

COUGAR 1985

Dear
Helen & Bill,
I'm so happy to see you just graduated from high school
Best friends we were at school and now at college. I just want to thank you for all the years you have given us. I needed you more than ever when we were young. You never gave up on us. You are our own lives but you are what always made us want to work hard.

BE YOURSELF

It's certain that you will at one time or another encounter an arrow or two somewhere in this book. Well, there's reason for it. In recent years, we haven't carried the theme consistently throughout the different sections of the book.

So this year we have incorporated arrows into our design to provide continuity and style to the book. If they have no immediate appeal, give them time. Arrows are universal and are much easier to use than balloons.

Speaking of balloons, you may find it hard to relate to the balloons on the cover and title page of this year's Annual. But there's a reason for those, too. In order to avoid the usual cougar head found on every annual from the last three years, we thought we'd be different and decorate the cover with something never attempted before. Notice, too, that the cover is also laminated. That's the glossy stuff that protects the cover from damage. That has never been used before either. If you're having a hard time adapting to the 1985 Cougar Annual, at least you'll have a great conversation piece.

There are certain memories from our high school years that are better off forgotten. But there are many more that will be cherished for years to come. One of these is Annual signing day. It's a chance for friends to record their respects and summarize the year's highlights in a book that will be kept forever. Whenever someone opens his yearbook, he'll be flooded with fond remembrances of that particular year.

That is why everyone should have his own style of writing and certainly have something to write about so all images left inside the cover of the 1985 Cougar Annual will be good ones.

▲ Have you ever wondered what it would be like to live in a house like this one? Ask Tress Tate, she knows all about it. It's her house, right next to the "CG" on the mountain.

Becoming the best requires patience, skill, and a lot of nerve. Allan Gillespie gets a great start out of the gate stop this wild bronco. He receives a lot of bumps and bruises but it's all part of making it to the top.

KGHS's anchorwomen Linda Fleeman and Jennifer Pate bring us the late-breaking news as only they can. It looks like fun, but it takes a lot of hard work for the newscast to run efficiently.

And here we have Scott Waddle indulging in an activity most teachers frown upon. It's hard to tell if he's trying to annoy his teacher, disrupt the class, or just get the photographer's attention. At any rate, Kim Turner doesn't seem impressed.

SOMETHING NEW

With all of the people walking around on campus with their new wave clothing and their hair dyed three different colors, it seems hard to say we lacked individualism. Yet when it's lunch time, your friends meet at your locker and ask, "Where we going to go today?" Then you all end up at McDonald's because everyone else goes there. But no one can afford it or some really wanted Mexican food to start with. The true individualist would have stated where he wanted to go and let the others decide if they wanted to follow.

Individualism is an important characteristic bestowed upon every person on this planet. It is the ability to do one's own thing for one's own benefit and pleasure. Most of us like to think we're different enough from the rest to "follow the beat of a different drummer," but all too often we change our values and opinions to please our friends and to become socially acceptable. As Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "Whoso should be a man, must be a nonconformist." He and many others, including Henry David Thoreau, believed in a theory called transcendentalism, which stressed the extreme necessity of individual freedom and expression. Perhaps they were a bit overdemanding with their beliefs. However, what they said makes a lot of sense.

The individual is often scoffed at or ridiculed until he is recognized at what he does. Our every-day lifestyles need more individual expression than is shown. The theme of this year's Cougar Annual is "be yourself" and we would like to encourage more people to take part in more events, make more decisions, and overall not to be afraid to do what they want.

Expression Through Composition

The Language Arts Department is not just English.

Thoreau, Chaucer, John Steinbeck, and Shakespeare are just a few of the many authors who were read by the students this year. The main goal for the majority of the language arts classes was composition. The teachers wanted to help each of their students reach his or her potential in writing. They accomplished this by stressing writing. Some teachers assigned research papers and some used journals to help their students become honest in their writing.

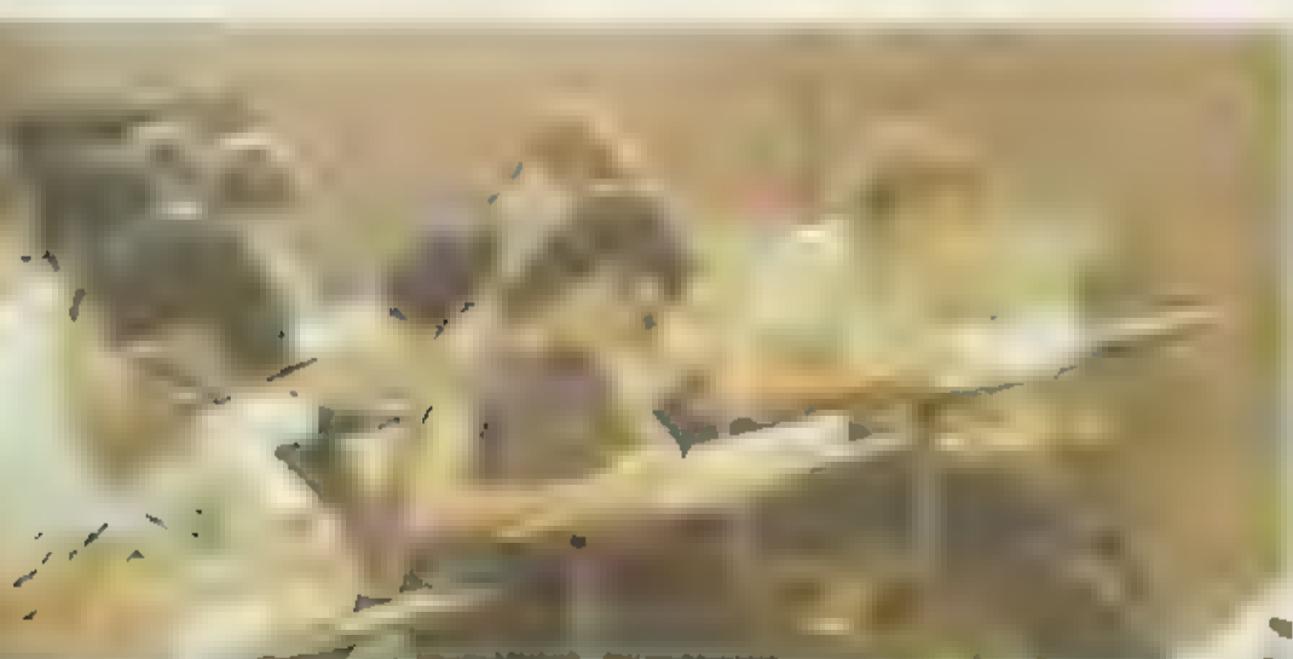

This year was the first year for the student composition files. During the year the teachers would assign special compositions that would be filed in each individual's folder for future reference. This way the teachers can see how much each student has progressed in his or her writing skills.

The Language Arts department is not just English, but it consists of the foreign languages and the senior college survival course. In French and Spanish, the students did not only learn the language, but they learned about the cultures of these countries. And college survival prepares the student for college.

Lights, Camera, Action

Students learn broadcasting.

The director yells "action," and the KGHs newscasters are on. This year's newscasters included: Brent Heffron, Mike Skaggs, Debbie Staats, Jennifer Pate, and Linda Fleeman

The studio production classes were held sixth and seventh hours this year. In these two hours they produced approximately four programs per week. One of the main goals for the studio production classes was to replace the existing studio cameras to enable a higher quality of programs.

All students, except the newscasters, must have first year electronics before they are allowed into the studio production class. In this class the students learned the operation and preventative maintenance of all studio equipment; including the mobile van, producing the news, and so on One of the students, Earl Osborne, had this to say, "In T.V. Studio you learn a lot about how a major news station goes about acquiring and assembling the news."

The school has had a cable station for eight years. At the present time 2,200 people receive our station

► Greg Homol adjusts the equipment. The students get hands-on experience by working with the equipment. It is the perfect class for future broadcasters

Meeting Deadlines Informing the Student Body

Anthony Charrette, editor-in-chief of the 1985 Cougar Annual, and Carol Fitzsimmons, editor-in-chief of the Cougar Growl, worked closely with their staffs to meet deadlines and produce their respective publications.

One problem that they encountered was that of beginning students being included on the staffs, along with the more experienced, returning members.

"Teaching all the new students while trying to meet deadlines with the experienced staffers slowed production down dramatically," according to adviser Mrs. Barbara Warren.

"When we had a beginning journalism class, I was able to teach the basics to the new students," Mrs. Warren noted. "Then, when they joined the staffs, they were fully skilled and ready to complete all the necessary work."

Both Annual and Growl students learned the basics of production, including layout and design, copy writing, copy reading, headline writing, interview techniques and photograph selection and cropping to fit the appropriate space.

In addition, they discovered the ethics of journalism as they strove to produce the best possible publications.

"The staffers worked hard," Mrs. Warren said, "under some very difficult conditions."

▼ Annette Manterola washes out her test tubes after finishing her lab in biology. After each lab the students must wash the equipment that they used, and put away the chemicals. The biology classes do a variation during the school year. All of the students enjoy doing lab.

▼ Mrs. Mary Sweeney hands out chemicals to her biology students. In biology the students learn about the various aspects of living things. No prerequisite are required to enter biology.

Exploring the Unknown

Studying God's creations inspires students.

Experimenting with dangerous chemicals like sulfuric and nitric acids. Or dissecting pigs and worms. You can find these things happening in our chemistry and biology classes.

In first year chemistry the students studied elements and compounds and their properties. The students also studied the reactions between elements and compounds, through doing labs at least once a week, and having two or three days of lecture. In some of the labs this year the students made ice cream, perfume, and aspirin.

After first year chemistry a student may take accelerated chemistry. And at the end of the year the student may take an exam. If he receives a high enough grade, he can receive college credit for the course.

One of the other lab sciences offered at our high school is biology. In biology the students studied about various aspects of living things.

There are no prerequisite classes that must be taken in order to enroll into the biology classes, but a strong background in science can be very helpful.

mercial art this year. Art is just not sketching with a pencil or using water colors, but it can be a carving or a statue. Some of today's modern art is wild

► After a long search through many books, Tony Jessop found the picture he was looking for. Now Tony will use the techniques he had learned in art to sketch and draw his picture.

Artists of the Future

Art Students paint panels for the cafeteria

Have you ever walked into an art gallery, and have been flabbergasted by the colorful pictures and other works of art? If not you are missing something spectacular. Some of those pieces of art could be the works of former students here at Casa Grande Union High

In the art class the students concentrated on Graphic Design and Commercial Art Projects. This is a way the students can actually earn a living, and make a career in the field of art

This year the students painted panels for the walls of the cafeteria. The panels consisted of subject matter such as: record cover designs, science fiction, and so on. The students painted panels instead of the walls, so there could be a variation of pictures from year to year

Every year the art students enter several art contests. Approximately twenty to twenty-five students enter every year. Prizes included: best of show through honorable mention at the State Fair, Gold Key and Hallmark awards at Scholastic Art Awards, and miscellaneous shows for Indian Arts, and U.S. Congressional Art Show

► The art students work hard on drawing and sketching their pictures. On the back

Jose Hernandez looks up from his drawing when the photographer snaps his picture. In the art classes the students work hard on finishing their drawings, but now and again they take a break so they can think of new ideas to sketch. And they do a good job at it.

Jason Stewart, the exchange student from New Zealand, and Phil Nelson think about what they are going to draw next. Many students sign up for art so that they can learn not only about the many forms of art, but the history behind it.

Lending A Helping Hand

Guidance and library staffs help the students.

Have you walked into the guidance office lately? If you have, you probably saw a new face. The new addition to the guidance department is Mr. Tony Rascon. Mr. Rascon is not new to the campus, since he used to teach math here before he replaced Mr. Eddings. Now Mr. Rascon is the new freshman counselor. Miss Barhorst said that Mr. Rascon fits in perfectly with their program, and he is a great addition to the guidance department.

The guidance department has a completely organized testing program this year. The freshman took the IDEAS test. This will help them find out what they like and do not like. The sophomores took the VIESA test, which was administered by Miss Maria DeLand. This test is a vocational test. The PSAT is optional to sophomores and juniors. It helps students get ready for the SAT, which they can take their senior year. The ACT is another college entrance exam offered to the seniors. The ASVAB test is optional for seniors also. The armed forces administer this test. It shows what field or fields that best fits the student who took the test.

The library has a new member on its staff too, Mrs. Pam Clapp. Mrs. Clapp is in charge of the vertical files. She assists in circulation of the books and she helps supervise the students, as librarian.

Mr. Evers Expresses Praise

Charles David Evers, Principal

Principal Charles David Evers, speaking of the North Central evaluation process, said, "I would like to compliment the faculty, staff and entire student body for the excellent work performed on the self-evaluation process."

Mr. Evers added, "We look forward to maintaining high academic standards at Casa Grande Union High School and will continue to work on improving the overall quality of our students' education."

After the 28-member group left, Mr. Evers said, "We will be developing a program study to implement the recommendations identified by the NCA visitation team. We have established study committees to review the district's weighted grading system, regulations for cocurricular and extracurricular student eligibility and the attendance policy."

The North Central evaluators spent three days on campus in February. They provided the school with a number of recommendations including the creation of an administrative position for curriculum development and the formation of a parent advisory committee. This group would work closely with school officials to provide input on matters concerning student discipline, attendance, curriculum and safety.

The evaluators also suggested a separate elective class for student council members who would be under the direction of a faculty advisor. In an effort to allow the student council to do more work for the school, the team suggested they begin to seek solutions to problems before they occur. The council could also set up a club fair or group of assemblies to inform all students of the varied extracurricular activities offered. The evaluators also suggested the formation of a student court that would decide on penalties for minor infractions and work to cut down on the number of suspensions.

Mr. Evers noted that the team said they had discovered "a ray of optimism from the district level." They also said that the instructional staff exhibited "expertise, energy, and a sincere desire to be the very best."

Among the recommendations was a principal's advisory committee made up of faculty members who are not department chairpersons.

Mr. Evers said, "I am very proud to serve as principal of Casa Grande Union High School and to have the opportunity to work with an outstanding administration, faculty, staff and student body."

North Central evaluates CGUHS

Citing a "small-town, friendly atmosphere," and a "caring, dedicated faculty," the North Central evaluative team weighed the pluses and minuses of Casa Grande Union High School in February.

They presented their informal conclusions during the exit report and promised to submit the follow-up written version during the spring.

The 28 evaluators were led by Dr. Bill Fitzgerald, chairman of the committee and principal of Marcos de Niza High School. North Central is an accrediting association that sets the standards for the schools in 19 states across the country.

Each year Mr. Evers turns in a report, but every seven years a team of 30 to 36 professionals come and view our school to make suggestions on how to improve it, or tell us that things are working well.

Everything and everyone was evaluated. Teachers, students, administration, techniques, library and audio-visual facilities, student services, curriculum, student activities, and sports were evaluated.

To prepare for their visit, several half-days were scheduled for the students, but the teachers had to stay and work on reports.

The North Central Evaluation team arrived on February 4, 1985. While they were here that day, they toured the campus and went to meetings. During the afternoon, they visited different classrooms to evaluate the teachers and the students. That evening a banquet was held in the cafeteria.

North Central was here for three days. On the last day the students were given a half-day, so the evaluation team could give their reports to the faculty.

All of their reports were combined to create a book which will serve as a guideline for the school. This book is about an inch thick, and there are a lot of standards to keep up, and a lot of goals to reach during the upcoming seven years.

Dr. Stevens outlines challenges

Dr. Clark Stevens, Superintendent

Dr. Clark Stevens, our new superintendent, is the successor to Dr. John Patzwald, who returned to Illinois after his short stay here. Dr. Stevens is a native of Iowa. After he graduated from high school, he served in the U.S. Army. While he was stationed in Ansbach, Germany, he had the opportunity to visit almost every country in Western Europe.

After the Army, Dr. Stevens attended Western Illinois University, where he earned a four-year teaching degree in three years.

He went on to become a high school social studies teacher in Bloomfield, Iowa, and he coached football and wrestling during his four years there.

During the next ten years, he was a principal for three different Iowa school districts with enrollments ranging from 160 to 975 students.

In 1970, Dr. Stevens became the superintendent in Nevada, Iowa. After serving as superintendent in Nevada, he moved to Marion, Iowa, whose size is comparable to that of Casa Grande. The main difference there was that he was dealing with a K-12 school district with nearly 3200 students.

Three years later, in 1977, Dr. Stevens moved to Davenport, Iowa, where he was regional school superintendent and presided over a six-county area. When asked why he decided to come to Casa Grande, Dr. Stevens said, "Its location and the positive attitude demonstrated by the Governing Board and citizens about the future of the high school district and the community," convinced him.

Dr. Stevens has no major changes for the school, but he does intend to continue to improve the district's educational program while still focusing on the needs of all of its students.

Dr. Stevens helped establish a student eligibility policy that emphasizes academic excellence and has the support of the students and teachers.

SUCCESSFUL SEASONS

Teams find disappointment despite the success.

Once again, the girls' archery team finished with a winning season of 8 wins and 3 losses and placed 5th in the state tournament as well. Nevertheless, Coach Sharron Lunt wasn't pleased with their performance. "We had an average season but we will do better next year," he said. "I was disappointed we didn't improve much during the season and only finished fifth in state."

The team had many new girls participate in archery which could account for the slow progress. "They did as good as could be expected in the beginning," Coach Lunt stated.

Melinda Hanes led the Cougars in scoring for the year followed by Carol Fitzsimmons, Frances Mitchell, Kris Hatelid, and Ninette Davis. When asked what she thought of archery, Carol Fitzsimmons said, "I always have much fun during archery season, the people who are on the team are really fun to be around."

One would think that gymnastics would thrive after an Olympic year where the likes of Mary Lou Retton and Bart Conner dazzled the world with incredible feats of muscle coordination and won many gold and silver medals for the United States. But this was not the case here at Casa Grande where the sport was cancelled from our athletic program.

Gymnastics Coach Diane Branstrom wasn't very pleased by this sudden change of plans, "However, we were expecting it eventually," she said. "I just wish we could have hung on for one more year. It will probably be gone throughout the state next year."

Their final season was "great" according to Coach Branstrom as they compiled a record of 5-5. The goals for the 12 gymnasts were to keep up their quality of standards and to continue sending gymnasts to state. Coach Branstrom informed us that the girls did just that by working very hard during practices and sending the most girls to state ever.

DOMINATION

Tennis teams muscle their way to the play-offs.

This year's boys' JV tennis team had a great season, winning nine matches and losing only two. The players did a good job and most of them will move up to varsity tennis next year.

The first game the team played was against Camelback. Casa Grande lost, zero to six. That didn't discourage the team, though. They went on winning the second game 4-2. The third game they beat Cactus 9-0, and in later matches, the team conquered both Tolleson and Glendale, 3-0.

Keeping up their good winning streak, the team beat Maryvale, Trevor Browne, Arcadia, Camelback, and Central. The only heartbreaking game the team lost was their last game of the season against Auga Fria, 2-7.

This year's varsity boys' tennis team had a record of ten wins and four losses. Mr. Tony Ivins, the tennis coach, felt the team had played up to his expectations. Mr. Ivins also said that the team showed signs of improvement throughout the season. "This year, there wasn't a problem with a lack of participation, injuries, sickness, or lack of experience," said Coach Ivins. When we asked Coach Ivins how many members he expected to lose due to graduation, he said, "Four of the top ten will return." Pat Wilhite, Eric Rudi, Neal Shinkle, and Nole Fandino.

This year's tennis team consisted of Mike Skaggs, Pat Wilhite, Erik Rudi, Scott Blackburn, Mark Kieft, Neal Shinkle, Brent Heffron, and Nole Fandino.

Coach Ivins stated that the team members had made state the last three out of four years. Hopefully, Mike Skaggs will be returning to state for the third time. The divisional playoffs season record for the last four years has been 41 wins and 14 losses.

Mike Skaggs uses his forearm shot. He should return as ▲ the number one varsity seed and is expected to participate in the state tournament for his third straight year

OUTSTANDING!

Tennis teams have impressive seasons.

Last year's varsity girls' tennis team ended their season with another fine record of 11 wins and 3 losses. They finished third in the division behind Arcadia and Central, the only two teams to beat the Cougars. Coach Barbara Ivins had only positive things to say about them. "We had a very good squad," she stated. "There were a lot of girls who stayed interested (in playing tennis)." The team had fun and learned about themselves and other people mostly due to the long crowded trips in a small van. "It taught them how to get along with others," said Coach Ivins.

Monica Fike, for her fourth time in four years, qualified for the state singles competition along with teammate Gloria Pixler. They ranked third and fourth in the division, respectively, when they entered the finals. The doubles team of Rhonda Parks and Lisa Coe-tales, ranked second for the Cougars during the season, went to divisionals as the number one ranked team. They played very well and only missed state by one match.

The team had only two seniors, Monica and Emily Goff, which means that next year's team will be full of experienced personnel, including Michelle Manterola, Diane Daley, and Kim Zink, all who saw time as a varsity player at one point in the year.

The junior varsity team also had a spectacular record of 11 wins against only 2 losses. They won 81% of their singles and doubles matches during the season. As many as 12 girls played on the JV team at different times during the year. Team members consisted of Tammy Anderson, Lisa Corfield, Connie Coxon, Lisa Felix, Elaine Green, Andrea Peterson, Karen Woodley, Heather Willis, and Shelly Willie.

MAYBE NEXT YEAR

A not-so-good year proves hopeful.

Even though it was the first time in eight years the varsity baseball team failed to make the playoffs, Head Coach Joe Nix was still optimistic. "The season was frustrating but it was also a building season for the next two years," he stated. The Cougars finished the year with 6-6 league and a 10-11 overall record. It wasn't until the second to the last game before the team's fate was decided. "We finished third in the league, but only the top two teams participate in the playoffs," Coach Nix informed us. Of the six league losses, four of them were determined by one run. Winning any one of those four games would have sent the Cougars to divisionals.

Inexperience also plagued the young ball club. Of the nine starters, six of them were sophomores. The pitching staff also lacked in experience, having three sophomore hurlers.

However, youth didn't affect the offense in the same way. "We were a good ball club offensively," Coach Nix said. "We batted .300 as a team and averaged over seven runs a game."

One of the more exciting games of the season was against Agua Fria. The Cougars were trailing 6-0 to the number 1 ranked Owls before their offense took over. When the game had ended, the Cougars had over-come their deficit and prevailed 14-7 in a dramatic upset. But the game changed the season for the ball club. "The game was our high point of the season — but it was also our demise," Coach Nix stated.

Coach Nix concluded with, "over all, the team didn't have as much talent as teams in the past but they had bigger hearts. We were in the playoff race until the last league game of the year. The seven sophomores on the team contributed much and we look for great things from them and the five Juniors returning."

The 1984-85 Pom line is made up of two captains, four other seniors, four juniors, and two sophmores. The poms attend the football games, the basketball games, and the pep assemblies, spreading their infectious case of school spirit. The Poms also participate in summer camp at Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff.

If it weren't for our poms and cheer leaders, we wouldn't have as much spirit as we have. The cheerleading squad is made up of three seniors, five juniors, three sophomores, and one freshman. The captain of the squad is Julie Ford.

The poms and cheers sold candles for a fund-raising project. The cheerleaders attend all football and basketball games and the pep assemblies. The cheerleaders also attend summer camp at Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff, to learn new cheers and gain more spirit.

This year for the first time at CGUHS, we have male cheerleaders, the Cougar Dales. They are Randy Alfredo, Craig Brown, Crel Vogel, Bruce Colegrove, and Danny O'Donnell. Craig Brown says, "It's a very new and exciting experience." He also says that there's some pressure from other students but, "mostly in a joking way."

Randy Alfredo says the cheerleaders treat them "good" while Crel Vogel says they treat them like "everybody else."

This year we also have a new tumbler added to the squad and a permanent mascot. The tumbler is Karyn Barlow, and the mascot is Nikki Armstrong.

AWESOME PERFORMANCE

Track teams complete very fine seasons.

The varsity boys' track team maintained their tradition as winners as they completed the 1983-84 season at 7-1. The girl tracksters finished with an impressive unblemished record of 7-0. Coach Manuel Quintanar was contented with the progress and consistency displayed by both teams as they fulfilled his level of intensity and continued to improve throughout the year.

Coach Quintanar estimates that 60% of the team will graduate from last year's squad, forcing a lot of weight on the returning participants to excel in their fields.

Their fine seasons may be accredited to their staying healthy. It helps tremendously when a team can avoid sickness and injuries to maintain that competitive edge.

Many school records were shattered during the season by these fine athletes, some more than once. "It was very gratifying to see many school records set," Coach Quintanar replied.

The Cougars made an impressive showing at divisionals, finishing second out of fourteen teams.

Representing Casa Grande at the state meet were Mike Harris, Ken Kieser, Greg Kakar, Eddie Miguel, Jeff Berryhill, Virginia Mejia, Barbara Glass, Clara Kelly, Michelle Kakar, Michelle Harris, Sheila Craddock and Liz Apodaca. Outstanding finishers for the boys' team were Kieser, Kakar, and Glass while Liz Apodaca captured honors for the girls.

The teams compete in many different categories, ranging from running and jumping with the legs to throwing with the arms. Running events such as the 400 meter relay, the mile run, and all hurdling events can be grueling unless the competitors have tremendous speed and endurance. The shot put and discus participants, however, need great upper body strength and timing to make record throws. Running broad jumpers and pole vaulters need the combination of several of these abilities before they can get good.

Girls' basketball experiences problems.

The same nightmare that girls' basketball coach Stan Groves experienced in 1983 returned to haunt him again in 1984. The varsity team's record of 2-16 didn't reflect last year's season of 10-5 and first place in the division, but the problems were the same. "We had the problems of lack of experience and a strong desire as a team," Coach Groves said. "Some of our people improved, but we still need to have people spend more time preparing during the summer and the off season."

Coach Groves is expecting the return of Chris Flemons, Monica Lopez, Carolyn Thompson, Shannon Blackburn, and Cecelia Costales to play in 1985.

"We always start with at least 30 girls for the two teams and they dwindle down from there," he reported. "Injuries really haven't been a factor, although inexperience always hurts," he said.

Quite often for a road game, only 6 or 7 girls would show, causing problems if one or more persons fouled out. Home games as well saw as few as five or six girls dress out to play.

Team members for the year included Stephanie Crow, Leah Stone, Shannon Blackburn, Christina Flemons, Lisa Harris, Ruthann Williams, Monica Lopez, Cecelia Costales, Kathleen Tobine, and Jennifer Putz (mgr.). Carolyn Thompson was named the most improved player while Christina Flemons snagged most valuable honors.

"The 1984-85 girls basketball schedule will not only have a varsity team, but a JV team as well," Coach Groves said. "With the addition of another coach, hopefully we will see more girls stay in the basketball program." Iq "I would also like to thank everyone who has supported the Lady Cougars and look forward to seeing everyone next year," coach Groves said.

This year's fans may have been big in loyalty, but they were small in numbers. Girls' basketball is an exciting, action-packed, contact sport which features fine competition from all over the state, so fans are urged to come out and cheer the girls on to victory at home and possibly post-season play.

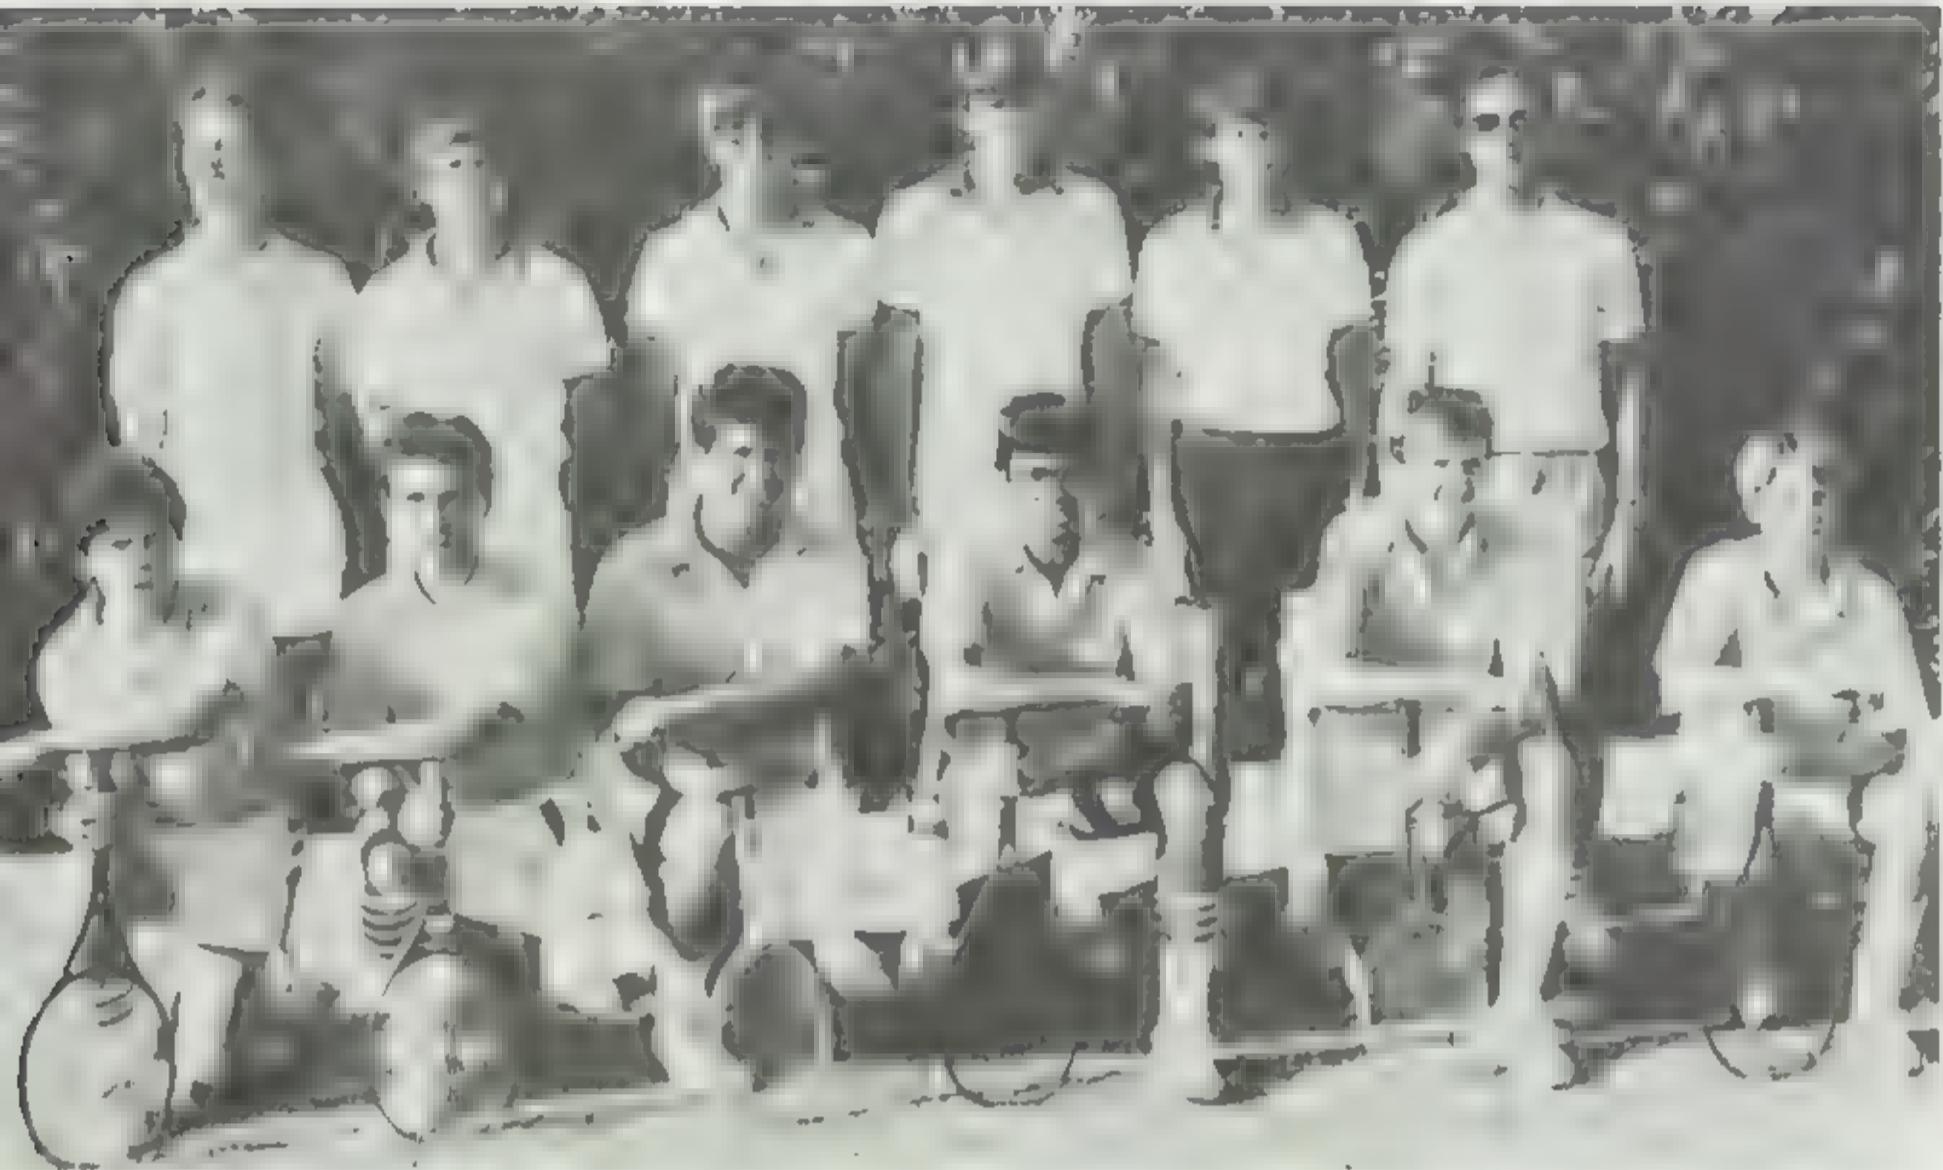

▲ This picture portrays the sad story of the team's dilemma with participation. Even at home games like this one, as few as six girls suited up to play.

BACK TO SQUARE ONE

Varsity football team has a frustrating

SEASON

It's back to basics for head football coach, John Kashner. Plagued by injuries and the inexperience of new and young faces, the 1984-85 varsity football team finished their year with a disappointing 0-10 record. But Coach Kashner is already looking ahead. "I would say this team gave 100%," he stated. "They shouldn't have an 0-10 tag to be remembered by. Hopefully they (the seniors) laid the groundwork for next year's team." And knowing Coach Kashner, the team will probably rebound with a winning season — just as he has accomplished many times before in similar situations.

The injuries in the beginning of the season affected the team's play for the remainder of the year. "I feel we would have done better if the schedule was reversed and we played our league games before the injuries set in," said coach Kashner.

One of the key injuries from which the team suffered heavily was the loss of quarterback Sean Cooper when he cracked his sternum with only five seconds left in the opening-day loss to Cortez. This forced Coach Kashner to start freshman Roy Gamez as his replacement. Cooper returned three weeks later, however, to assume his role as quarterback. The offense for the Cougars came of age late in the season behind Cooper's strong passing to a number of talented receivers, opening the way for their running attack.

The Cougars played tough down the stretch, just falling short of a victory on the closing moments of a few games.

The team will lose only about seven seniors this year, meaning 35 underclassmen will return to play next year, and rebuild for the future.

Coach Kashner also noted the urgency of school support. "You get better support when you win, but you need fans when you lose as well," he said. Last year, it was the crowd who boosted the team's morale and enabled them to overcome a 27-7 halftime deficit and post a 28-27 upset over highly-regarded Chandler. The coaching staff is hoping for that again next year.

REWARDING YEAR

Hard work pays off for football teams.

The 1984-85 junior varsity football team coached by Joe Nix ended their season with a record of only 3 wins and 5 losses. However, they still accomplished almost every goal they set for themselves. "They improved 100% throughout the season," coach Nix stated, though there were times when they didn't play as well as expected.

The team avoided sicknesses that may have affected the season but "we had a problem with injuries with our quarterbacks. We lost our top 2 due to injury and used three others during the season," coach Nix said.

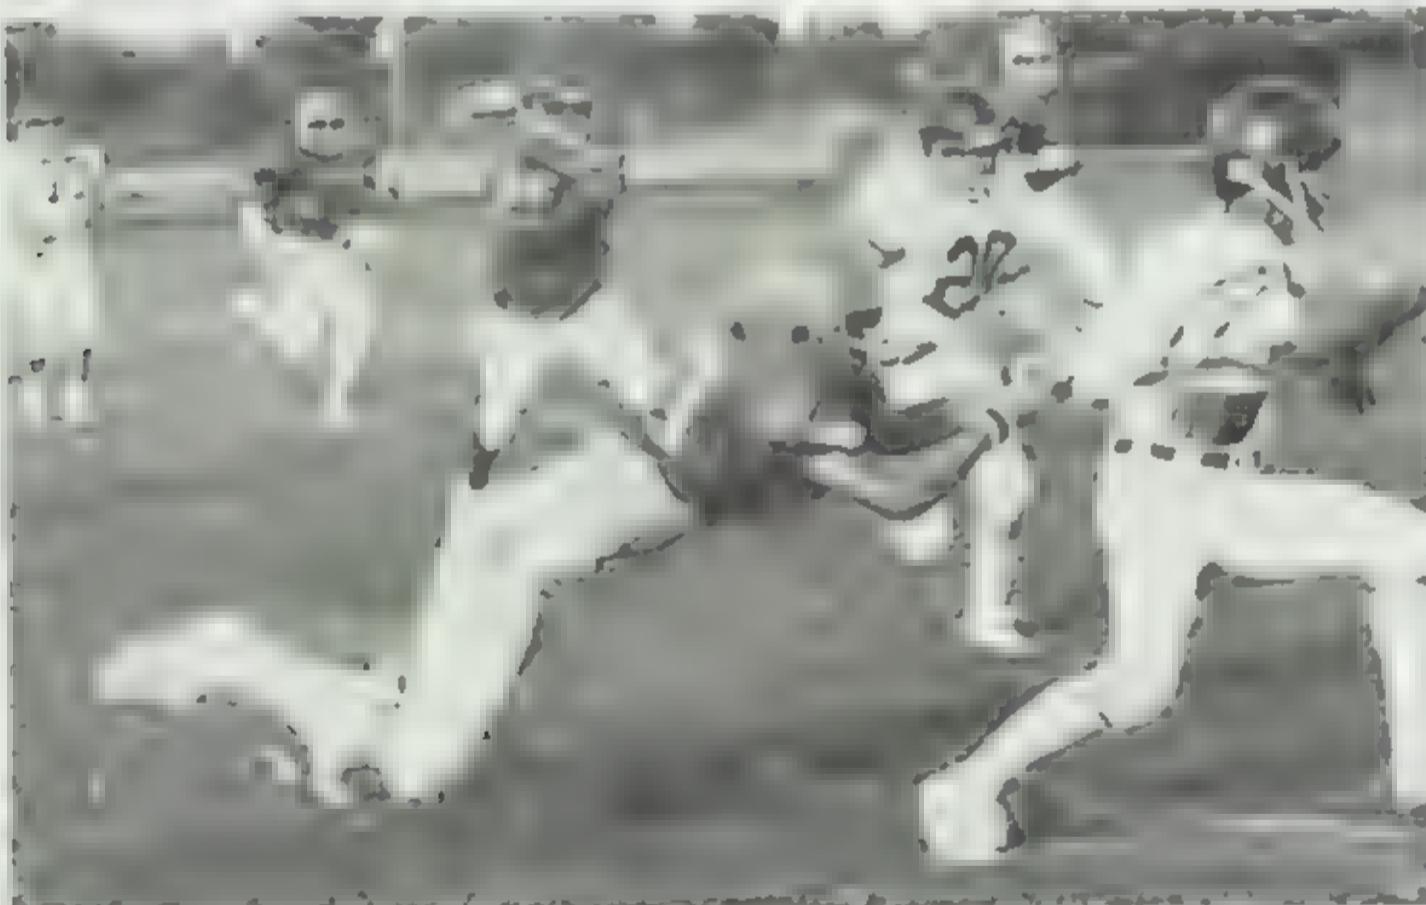

"This team improved upon its fresh record of 2-6. At the beginning of the year we our goal of 4-4 season and fell just short. We did accomplish a more important goal and that was to become a 'disciplined' team" he said.

All of the hard work the team put into practicing, playing, and improving should pay off in the long run. "Hopefully, all of our players will play varsity next year," coach Nix concluded.

The freshman football team had a better year record-wise than the JV, ending at 6-2. Nick DePadre and Tony Arnold coached the freshman team but were not available for comment on the season. The team's only losses were to Alhambra and Hayden by the scores of 18-14 and 38-22, respectively, while beating Chaparral in the season opener 6 to 2 in a defensive battle. The defense paid off again with a 6-0 victory over Tolleson and a 16-6 trouncing of Tolleson. Their season concluded with a 12-6 victory over Cactus before an 8-0 shutout of Agua Fria and a 34-0 whitewashing of Arcadia.

Joey Verduesco was enthusiastic towards playing. "It is really exciting to play freshmen football because you play against better teams and it really turns into a good game. It is just as exciting to see your name in the paper," he said.

Kevin McEuen also commented on the sport. "Games are the reflections of practice. If you practice hard, you'll play hard," he said.

TEAM UNITES

Volleyball team learns to play together.

The 1984-85 varsity volleyball team finished the season with a subpar record of 7-9 this past year, but head coach Mary Slavin vows that they will make a comeback. "Naturally, every coach and athlete would like to win a state title," she said, "but we fell a little short of our goal this year. We will be back strong next year."

We asked her if they had improved during the course of the year. "You bet," she responded. "We started out as a team composed of eleven individuals and finished our season as one strong unit."

The "unit" breezed through the year without any major complications although "we did lose three senior players midway through the season for disciplinary reasons-but before long these positions were filled," Coach Slavin reported.

The 1986 team's bidding will rest heavily on the shoulders of returnees Nikki Armstrong, Leanna Tashquinthe, Loretta DeLoney, Aletha Harry, Jinelle Otteson, and "Bubbles" Gilder. "We also have some very promising young JV players who should really help us out," stated coach Slavin.

"We always miss our graduating seniors," she continued. "Marcella Brown played for C.G. for four years and will truly be missed as an outstanding, dedicated athlete. Veronica Keeton played three years as a very highly skilled athlete with a deep love for the sport."

The list of players who concluded the year for the Cougars included Marcella Brown, Loretta DeLoney, "Bubbles" Gilder, Aletha Harry, Jozette Hale, Denise Falls, Veronica Keeton, Joanna McCubbin, Leanna Tashquinthe, and Judy Smith. Marcella Brown was named most valuable player while Ardesa "Bubbles" Gilder was recognized as the most improved.

The Cougar spikers opened league play in October with wins over Tolleson and Carl Hayden before losing to Cactus, Agua Fria, Arcadia, and Tolleson. They then split their last four games to finish at 4-6 in the division, beating Carl Hayden and Agua Fria but losing to Cactus and Arcadia.

HARD WORKING

JV and freshman teams benefit from hard work.

"It was a great year. The girls worked hard and improved greatly," said coach Mary Sweeney of the JV volleyball squad, who finished with a 6-5 record. "We had the only winning record of the three teams (varsity, JV, and freshmen)," she noted.

The girls managed to avoid injuries and illnesses during the year, leaving ample opportunity for everyone to improve and work together more effectively. Coach Sweeney was pleased with these results.

Coach Sweeney was, however, concerned with the new school policy concerning grades and grade point average. "It will probably limit the number of girls trying out next year for a while," she said, "but I won't know for sure until then."

The team opened the '84 season with wins over South and Alhambra back in mid-September. Their game against North was cancelled just before they suffered their first loss of the year to Tolleson.

After they successfully disposed of Hayden, their luck changed a bit as they dropped their next two games against Cactus and Agua Fria. The girls came away with a decisive victory over Arcadia before losing again to Tolleson. However, they won two of their last three games by defeating Hayden, losing to Cactus, and closing out the year on November 1st with a win over Arcadia.

The freshmen Volleyball team ended their season at 4-4 under first year coach Karmen Harms, a faculty member at a local school.

They progressed successfully and should produce plenty of fine JV and freshmen players down the line. The freshmen had basically the same structure as the JV with the exception of the South and Hayden games.

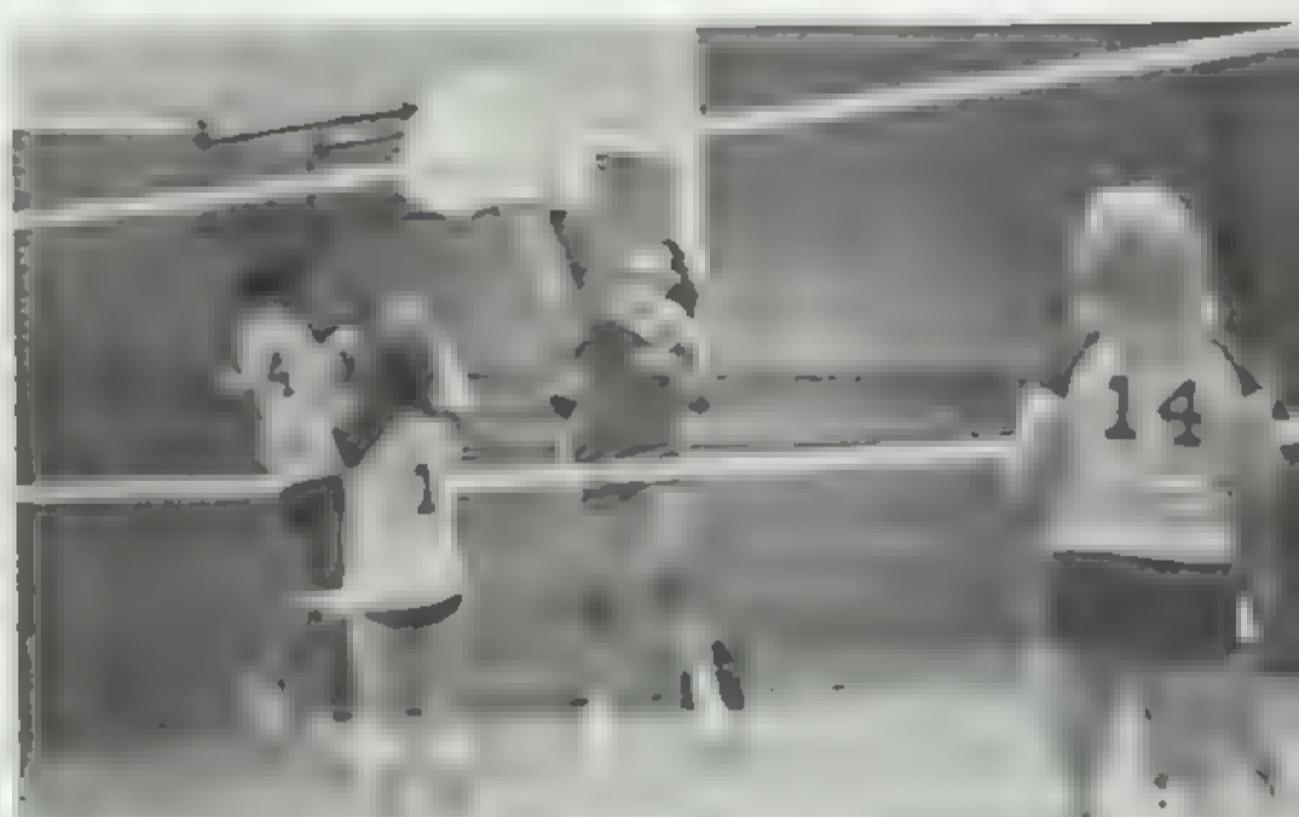

The girls won their first game of the year beating Alhambra. After their game versus North was cancelled as well, they lost their next two games to Tolleson and Cactus. They rebounded the following week to beat Agua Fria and Arcadia, but lost again to Tolleson and Cactus. They evened out their record on the final game of the season, beating Arcadia for the second time.

DANNY TAKES STATE

O'Donnell named new diving champ.

A four-year goal was finally attained by senior Danny O'Donnell as he became the Arizona state 1-meter spring-board diving champion for 1984-85. The dream became a reality at the state finals where he captured the title from a stockpile of other talented divers representing several Arizona schools. He was allowed to compete in the finals after taking first place at divisionals in the same event. Head swimming Coach Diane Branstrom was thrilled with Danny's victory. "It was the most exciting thing for me as coach to be a part of a state championship. It's a day I'll never forget," she said.

This was just the first of many good things to happen for the defending divisional champion Cougar tankers. Aside from finishing 7-4 for the season, the boys team won 8 medals at divisionals while the girls finished at 5-6 and took 5 medals. "We sent 6 swimmers and divers to the state meet — the most ever from Casa Grande," noted a satisfied Coach Branstrom.

The season went smoothly for the Cougars as was confirmed by coach Branstrom and Duane Brian, the boys' coach. "We were very pleased with the divers' and swimmers' performances," they agreed. "Everyone improved greatly and peaked just right."

The girls' team will lose Monique Kinnison, Julie Ford, and Stephanie O'Neill to graduation while the boys will lose John Flanders, Jeff Younger, Todd Deist, and Danny O'Donnell.

"We lost some swimmers from last year who just didn't come out, and a couple to injuries," coach Branstrom continued. "Otherwise, we had a great year. The two teams displayed quality swimming versus quantity although we need to add more strength and flexibility to each diver and swimmer," she added. "Overall, it was a very enjoyable and memorable season."

NEW SYSTEM

Freshmen learn from new coach.

"It was a great experience coaching tennis. The players worked hard and did a great job," said Steve R. Miller, freshman boys' tennis coach. This was his first year of coaching tennis as he replaced Mr. Tony Ivins, who stopped coaching tennis after several years of service.

Mr. Miller says he had a good turnout this year. For most of the players, he said, it was their first time playing organized tennis.

There were 12 players all season and at least six players in every match played.

Signs of improvement were shown said Mr. Miller adding: "It seemed most of the players had improved."

The players for this year's freshman boy's tennis team were Carlos Rascon, Brian Beard, Chris King, Brett Hale, Doug Gerken, John Cortez, John Richetts, Madan Mohan, Paul Stromberg, Steve Gray, Brian Merrell, and Mahesh Vidyasagar.

This year's record for the Freshman team was 4-3.

This year's freshman girls' tennis team won five games while only losing two for the 1984-85 season. Jackie Hadorn assumed the position as their coach, replacing Mrs. Barbara Ivins, who stopped coaching after last year's season. Mrs. Hadorn teaches at a local elementary school, and comes to CGUHS afterwards to coach the girls. "We have good depth and lots of enthusiasm and should be very successful," she said.

The girls themselves had a few comments to make about the year. "Freshman tennis and Big Macs belong hand-in-hand," stated Kirstin Barsz while Heather Willis said, "Bus rides are the best."

All of the girls had a good time playing tennis this year. Danni Marsh said, "I think that the experience and fun of tennis is very rewarding and very worthwhile." Kerri McClellan added, "I loved being on frosh tennis. It was more than the playing, it was the friends."

STILL WINNING

Cross Country keeps the winning spirit alive.

Cross Country one of the events which takes a lot of running and a sport that everybody wants to join in. It's also a great sport to have great legs and leg power. "Running works like that, the longer and more practice time you put in, eventually you will become a faster runner. However it takes time," says Coach Allen

Ken Kieser, who runs for practice, is a very outstanding athlete when it comes to cross country. Ken Kieser is still one who has been honored for years. Also Duane Johns, Ron Nasewitewa, and David Joaquin are improving in their athletic ability. The other members of the cross country team are Ramon Luna, O'Brien Steward, and Gilbert Alvarez who are working harder to win the boys tournament and individuals for the whole team. The boys' team record was 11-3, and they didn't lack in participation or in sickness.

The girls' team record of 1-8 was the worst season in team history for the cross country members. But they had the experience for this kind of trouble in the early start.

Last year it seemed that they had trouble with participation and self-discipline as a team, said Coach Allen. Ken Kieser, Virginia Mejia, and Sheila Stewart will be gone because of graduation but he hopes the team will go on the way it has been

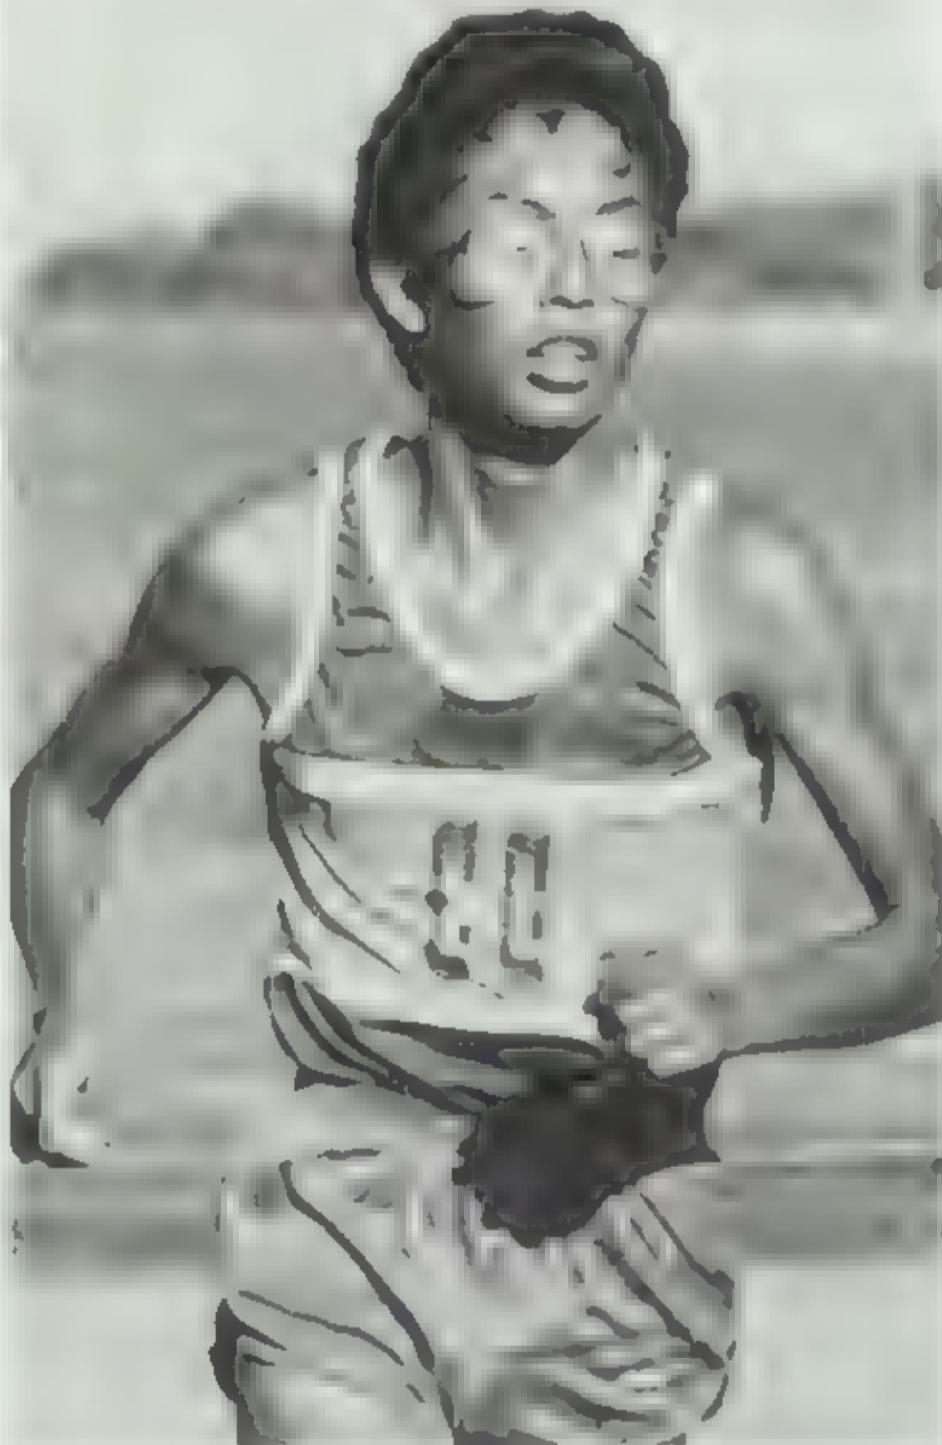

The returning members of the Cross Country team are Virginia Mejia and Sheila Stewart. These girls have made the best Cross Country when they first started. Each of these girls had made their performance excellent and also have tried very hard to stay in varsity competition in the early year. Virginia Mejia and Sheila Stewart have given their last appearance, but it's a big time for them to see when they're gone the work they have put in for the Cross Country team. The whole team will remember them as two great runners.

As for expectations, the team didn't have any but as individuals they have a couple who went beyond their expectations. But the whole team kept up their spirits and faith to come on top of themselves and to prove that each individual has great athletic ability.

GOOD JOB

Golf teams shows they're tough.

During the fall sports season, all eyes are usually on football, volleyball, cross country or swimming and the overwhelming success of the golf team is often overlooked. Coach Dave Linley has overseen his teams to a four-year total record of 58-15-2, including the 17-7-1 season of 1984. They started their year ranked only tenth in their division, but by the time divisionals rolled around they were ranked fourth. The team surpassed Coach Linley's probabilities and showed tremendous improvement as they took second at divisionals and ended up 14th in the state finals. Inexperience at some of the more elaborate golf courses affected their play at state. "We were plagued with fast greens all year," said Coach Linley. "State (greens) were faster than what the pro's play."

Of the nine participants, all but Scott Waddle will return to play next year. Scott has been the first 4-year starter for the golf team. Other starters included Rich Bell, Alan Gilmore, Robert Castro, and Jeff Branche. Bill Hicks, Nicole Carlisle, Larry Frick, and Doug Stoltz will also be returning next year.

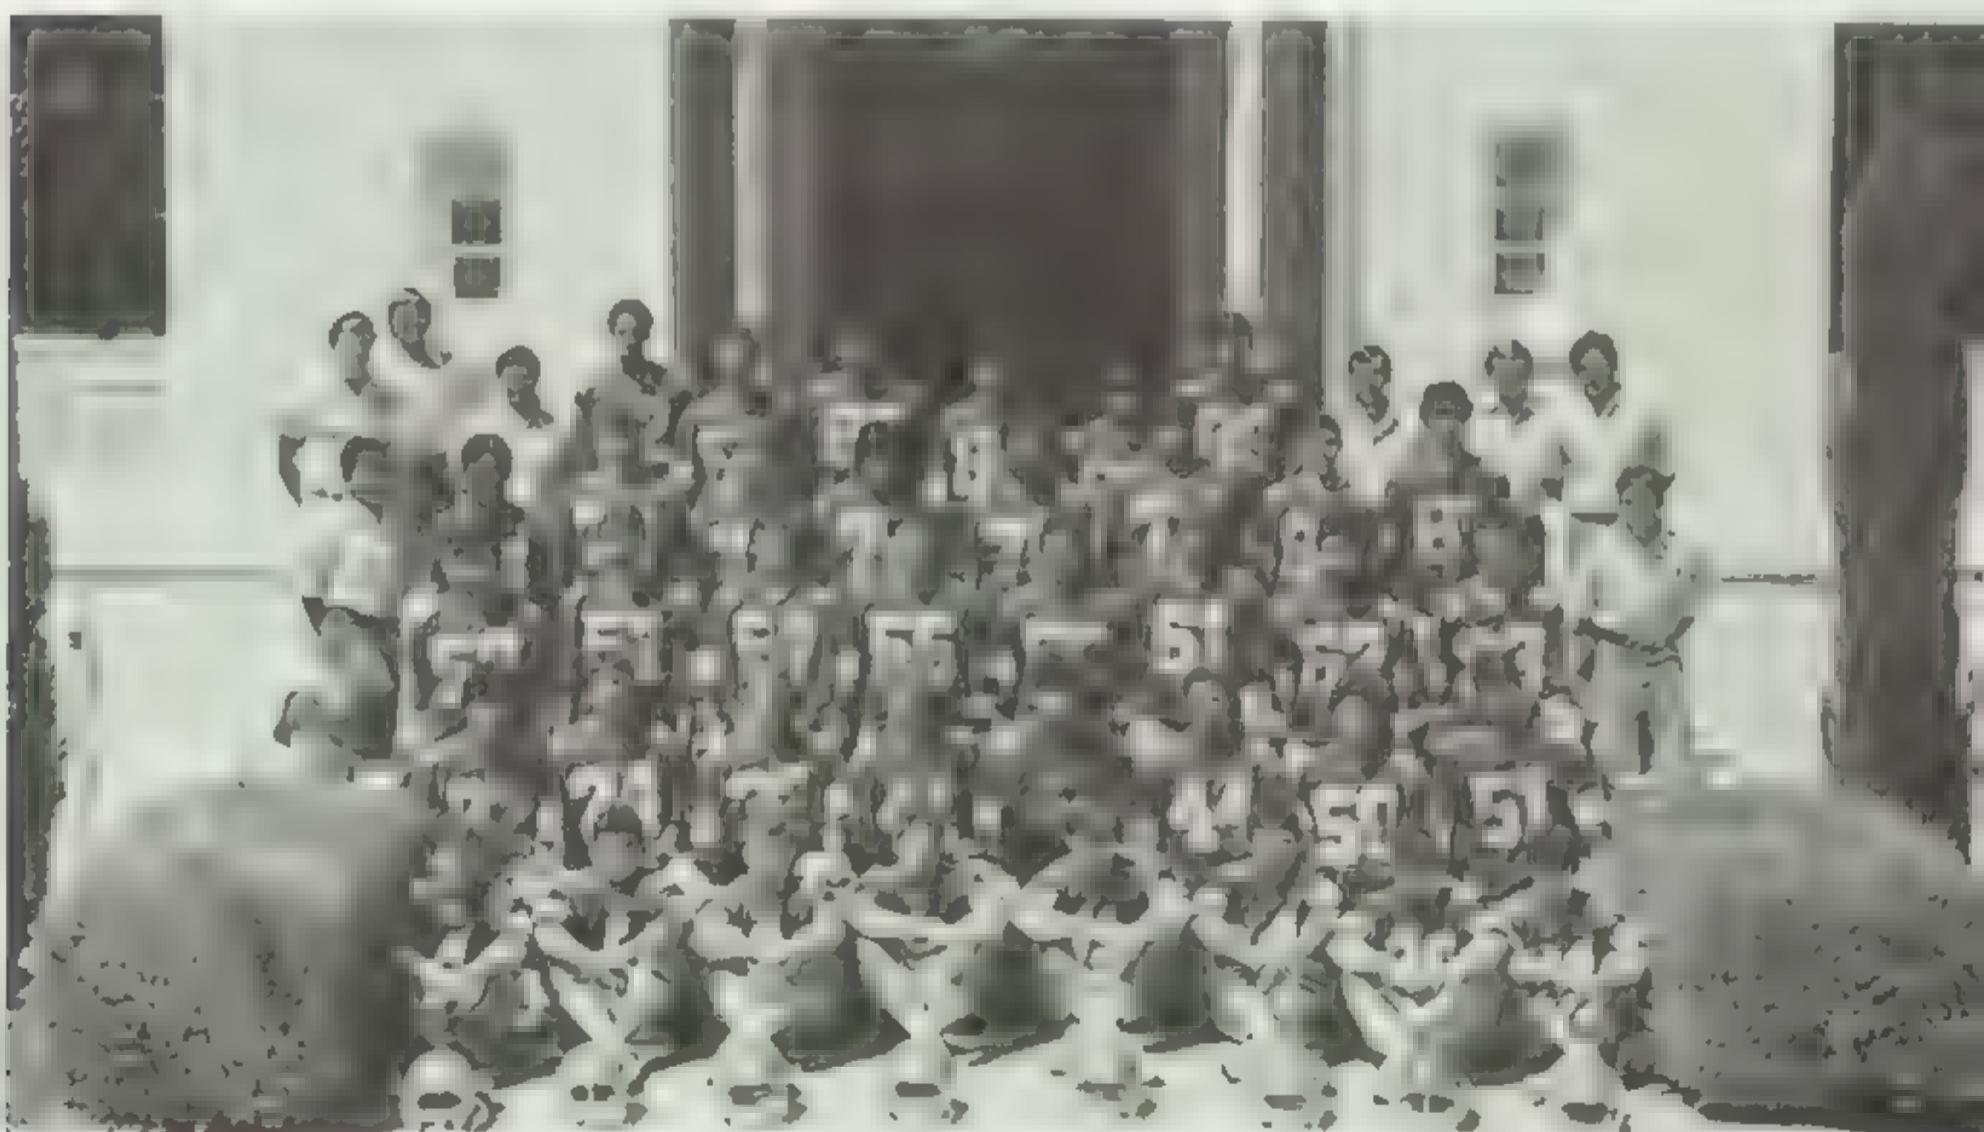

Coach Linley summed up the season by saying the team was "pride and proudness personified" and that he was eagerly looking forward to next year.

Alan Gilmore was also enthusiastic about their season. "We had a solid year because when someone was in a slump, there was always someone else to pick up the slack," he said. "It was fun and I'm looking forward to next year. We surprised everyone this year and we'll be tough again next year."

COINC FOR BROKE

Play-off hopes rest on final two games.

With the end of the season only two games away and possible a playoff spot on the line, head basketball Bruce Keiser has to be concerned. The teams most recent win, a 55-49 triumph over second place Cactus, ended a three game losing streak and shooting slump that jeopardized the teams chances for a playoff spot. But now if the Cougars can pull off their final two games at home, their chances of clinching a position would improve.

Currently the Cougars stand at 3-5 in league play and 8-11 for the overall campaign. The schedule was not as road-oriented as last years but brought the Cougars face-to-face with some highly talented and respected teams. Ironically, the C.G. Cagers won a few games they probably shouldn't have according to coach Keiser like the 50-48 win over Maryvale and the 54-48 win over South Mountain. "It feels good to beat a team that was in the state finals last year," stated Coach Keiser. "Especially for the seniors who had never previously beaten them."

Other memorable games were the come-from-behind surprise over Camelback 58-56 when the Cougars were down by 21 points at half time and the 51-45 league-opening loss to eighth ranked Carl Hayden in which the team's play on defense held the Falcons to their lowest point total of the year. "It was one of our worst shooting nights of the year and we still had a chance to beat them in the end," noted coach Keiser, "I was proud of their effort."

Juniors Darren Gaines and Mark Martinez lead the team in rebounds and scoring while Martinez led the team in free throw percentage, shooting 80% from the charity stripe for a good part of the year. Senior Ken Keiser led in assists for the 1984-85 season. Seniors Scott Blackburn, Mike Hekking, Jeff Younger and Herman Jackson along with Keiser will be leaving the team after this season concludes, while Juniors Darin Lawton and Darrell Warren will join Martinez and Gaines next year to play varsity.

STRUGGLING FOR SUCCESS

JV and freshman teams find winning doesn't come easy.

The freshman basketball team has had a year when things just haven't gone their way. Despite their frustrating year of just two wins against ten losses, they were forced to forfeit a victory when one of the players was discovered to have forged a teacher's name on an eligibility slip.

Many of their opponents were quick and big and ran a lot, often allowing them to control the pace of the game and pull off the victory. However, there were a few games that weren't decided until the final couple of minutes where the Cougars ended up just short of winning.

The freshman team consisted of Kevin Fretheim, Corey Lawton, Timmy Beechum, Robert Beechum, Jose Salazar, Brad Jones, David Joquin, Kevin McEuen, Rodney Coleman, Kevin Fitzgibbons, and Louis Traylor. Alan Gilmore was the manager.

The junior varsity basketball team has also had its problems. Currently they stand at 7-10, with two home games remaining in their schedule. Their problem was not with the inability to score against other teams, but rather with hanging on to big leads in the late stages of a game. Too many times did they build up a comfortable lead only to watch it squander away, resulting in a loss.

JV coach, Jim Quinlan, tried a dominant sophomore roster this year to give them the extra experience that most juniors received during their years of basketball. Considering their competition consisted of mostly juniors, the younger Cougar JV team has played bigger, more experienced teams and have had the chances to beat them. That alone should be an encouraging building block for next season.

Team members included Gary Booker, Donald Stone, Kevin Keeton, David Keeton, Martin Alvarez, Tyler Campbell, Galen Flynn, Sonny Singh, Ken Jaffers, Steve Lewis, and Bobby Meyers.

Raul Gamez wrestles his way out of a tight spot to take control of the match against Tolleson. After a difficult struggle, Raul defeats him.

SUPERB

Cougar grapplers wipe out the competition.

The varsity wrestling team had a record of eight wins and one loss this year.

Leading the team were Ralph Dasti, Raul Gamez, Mike Garcia and Bennet Levy. Bennet had this year's fastest pin with nine seconds at the heavy weight category against Arcadia.

"Each team has its own personality with its own strengths and weaknesses," said head coach Nick DePadre when asked how the team compared with the ones from the past. "I am tough to satisfy, but I know the team members are as hard workers as you'll find anywhere," he stated.

Returning next year from the varsity lineup are Ralph Dasti, Raul Gamez, Tim Dunham, Jason Davis, Matt Duran, and Fred Marquez. DePadre quoted on next year's team, "We will have a strong veteran nucleus from this year's varsity team returning combined with some excellent JV wrestlers filling in some vacated weight classes. We feel we have a bright future."

Coach DePadre also added a personal comment. "I am proud to be a part of a fine wrestling team. The Casa Grande Union High School wrestling team has worked hard throughout the season and represented the area of Casa Grande with a high level of distinction."

"It was a lot of hard work and dedication for a team to produce an undefeated season. Members of this JV team achieved this standard so a coach has to be satisfied with this type of performance and dedication," stated JV coach Mike Limon.

The outstanding JV wrestlers were Adam Flores (8-0), Scott McHaney (7-1), Darrin Rhodes (3-0), Bernie Tellez (3-1), Jason Davis (4-0), and Toby Trejo (6-0).

"With a winning attitude and the desire to achieve high goals, many of these JV players should fill in on the varsity starting line-up next year and hopefully go on to achieve the ultimate goal of being a state champion," concluded Coach Limon.

Some of the breakers performed this outdoor concert at the London Bridge in Lake Havasu City, Arizona, on their way back from a concert in Needles, California.

New Club Forms

Club aquires many fans quickly.

There exists on your campus various clubs whose members range from honor students to electronics wizards and people seeking job skills to those wanting to travel the world and experience new cultures. So why not a group of guys who want to dance for fun and compete for trophies? This past year saw the formation of such a group. The Breakdancing Club was successfully founded and guided through its first year by Miss Diane Young for guys and gals who enjoyed breaking against competition or simply wanted to improve on their techniques.

As it turned out, the club traveled to many different places to compete as a group against other dancers or just perform for a crowd. Miss Young informed us that most of the breakers had never danced in front of a live crowd before and never imagined they'd ever do it. Yet, they became so popular locally, their self confidences were lifted and they began looking forward to shows.

As well as performing here in Casa Grande, the group was invited to dance in front of an eager mob of fans at a high school in Needles, California, who had heard of the "Unity Breakers" from friends who witnessed one of their previous performances. They stayed overnight in Needles with financial aid from the concert, and returned the following day. Miss Young told us that the high school in Needles particularly liked the club's goals of learning how to get along with others and communicate instead of fighting and how they were thinking of starting the same type of group there.

Members of the Unity Breakers include Augustine Marquez, Larry Rodriguez, Glen Jones, Lupe Hernandez, Darrell Jones, Roy Alcantar, Richard Ruiz, Daniel Villareal, Steve Watson, Herman Green, Wilson Kelly, Ari Soto, and Ysidro Orozco.

◀ Steve Watson does his floor routine for the rest of the group.

FRUSTRATION!

Debut soccer season ends winless.

With the departure of gymnastics from our school, we have entered a new field of sporting events. Soccer is now among us, and 1984-85 saw it complete its first season here at a dreary 0-12 record. The team, coached by Gerald Horst and Dave Linley, entered league play without a win but managed to win two of their first four league games and were in contention for a playoff spot. Unfortunately, these games were forfeited by the Cougars when school administration officials discovered that one of the soccer players had forged a teacher's name on an eligibility slip and had played in those two games. The forfeits took their toll on the Cougars as they lost their remaining games to finish winless.

Keep in mind, however, that this was just the first year of competition for Casa Grande soccer while many of their opponents have had a soccer program at their schools for several years now, allowing the formation of stronger teams.

"The team has improved a lot," said Coach Horst. "I didn't know it at the time, but coach Dave Linley said that in our division, our team had been the first to win a game the starting year."

"We have a lot of young talent, and we have something to look forward to next year," Mr. Horst said.

Most of the members have had some experience with City League soccer, as did senior goalie Craig Steinhoff. "I started out with the league eight years ago, and that's where a lot of my background is."

Many don't understand the aspects involved with the sport. Paul Schaefer stressed, "Soccer isn't a sissy sport. There isn't the body contact that there is in football, but it's pretty difficult to do all of that running."

To help them master coordination, agility, and speech, coaches Horst and Linley have the players run for 40 minutes, give them about a 10 minute break, then have them run another 40 minutes and so on. Practicing kicking and handling the ball is also an important part of the program.

Coach Horst was satisfied this year and said, "What I'd really like to see is people coming out and seeing what it's all about. I think it would be great if the whole school would come just one time. It would help to have a few more people in the stands."

She participated in solo ensemble and served as Santas' assistant.

As a sophomore, Corinne again received a band achievement award and was involved in thespians. She was active in both marching and symphonic bands and received an academic achievement award.

Last year Corinne was involved in NHS and marching band. She received a US National Band award and was elected vice president of the thespians. A member of the key club, Corinne also served as squad leader of the band. She won an Optimist Youth Appreciation award and was sound technician for "Fools."

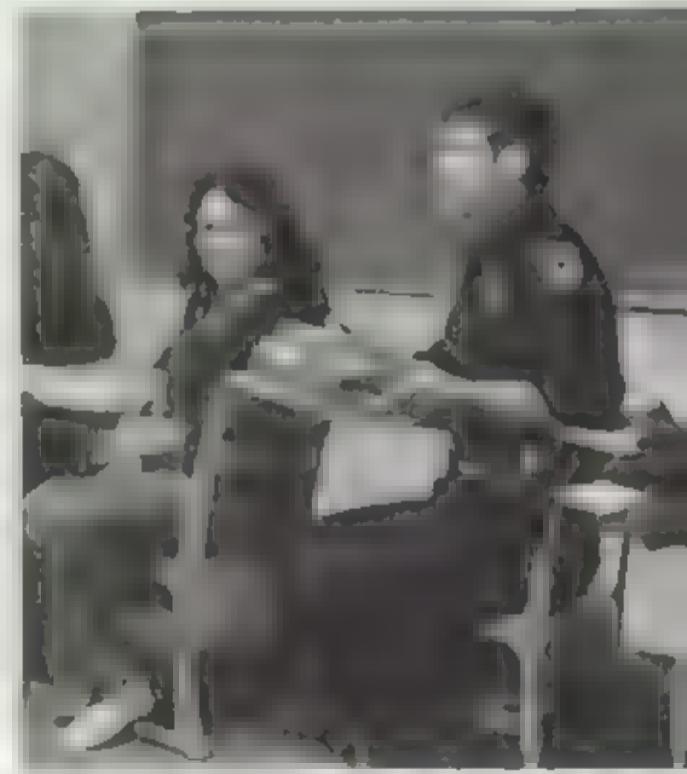

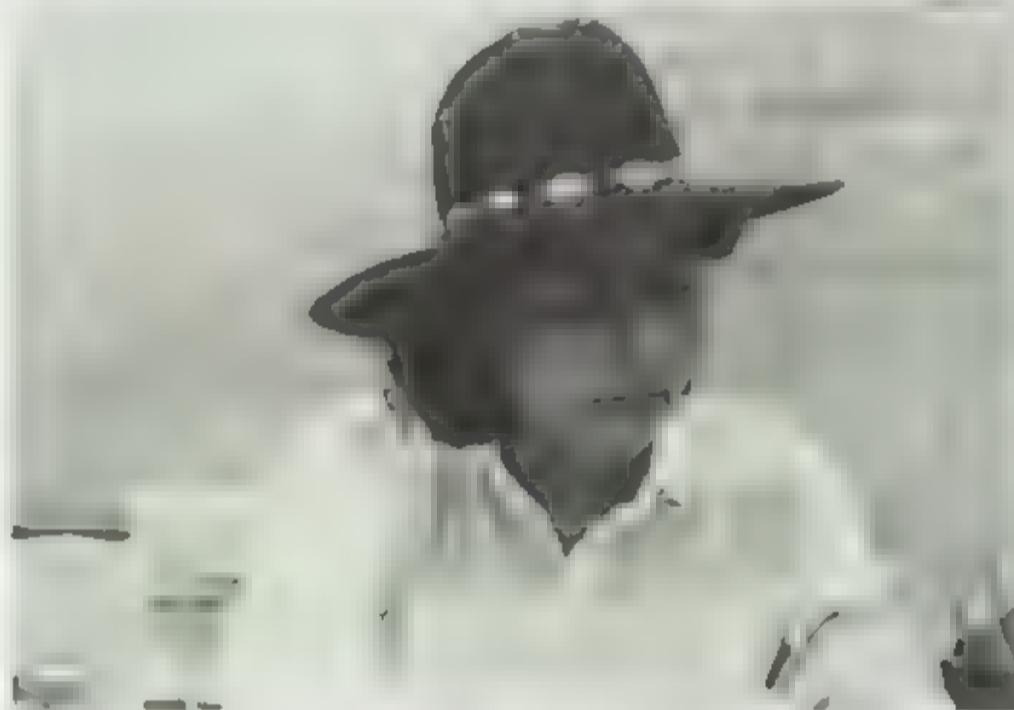

This year Corinne served as president of the thespians and drum major for the marching band. A member of the Key Club and NHS, she was in the cast of "The Improvisation Show."

Corinne was a KGHS newscaster last year and involved in "I Never Saw An other Butterfly" with the lead role. She won the best actress award for that performance.

Leaders Of Tomorrow

NHS, FBLA plan for the future.

The National Honor Society consisted of over 30 members

The purpose of National Honor Society is to create enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote leadership, and to develop character

The members of National Honor Society held fund raisers like concession stands, dances, and candy sales. NHS also had a tutoring program this year. The members helped other students in various subjects including algebra, biology, English, and so on

The club's officers included Brent Heffron, president; Mike Skaggs, vice president, Kimber Robinette, secretary; Scott Blackburn, treasurer

FBLA's main purpose is for students with business-type skills to use them in competition, and to come together as a group. This year's FBLA chapter was trying to help businesses throughout Casa Grande by offering their services. The FBLA chapter also donated toys to needy children for Christmas and to a dinner at Thanksgiving. This year's goal is really not to attain more funds. FBLA has plenty of money left from last year's fund raisers, and they hope to spend the money only for the club's best interest. The club's fund raisers this year were selling pocket calendars and candy. There were thirteen members in this year's FBLA chapter. Debbie Staats served as president, and Anna Jones as vice president of the club. These students are the NHS members for this year. Keeping a high academic average is a major goal for all. The sponsors are Mrs. Mary Sweeney and Ms. Nancy Pifer

▼ These are the members of NHS. Three of the members participated in the Trivia Pursuit game. They tested their knowledge in sports, history, geography, and so on. Three members of each club participated in the trivia game which is shown on channel 18, our school television station

Band Competes

Bands perform at numerous events during year.

This year's Marching/Symphonic Band was good," stated Mr Chris Pastor, director of the band. Mr. Pastor was pleased about the band day they attended earlier this year. The band received a II rating, which is excellent for a band so young and of such little experience. Band Days are special events in Cougar Marching Band's annual schedule. Bands from high schools all over the state come to compete not with each other, but with themselves. Each year they strive to do better. Although Band Days are not meant for competition, a lot of competition occurs between band members to be the best at playing his/her instrument. Students prove their playing ability in auditions to enter the band. Based on scores in auditions, students are placed in the proper chairs.

However, band is not all fun and games. The band practiced from about 8:00 to 9:00 every morning, and from 7:00 to 9:00 every Tuesday and Thursday evening. One may ask, "So what is the band doing right now?" The band practices for concerts to be held in the future. The band takes part in the pep assemblies, and have been performing at all the basketball games held in our gym. Also, a few of the band members participated with the Mesa Symphony Orchestra in providing music for "Peter Pan", the musical production presented by our school this year. To raise funds for the band's trips, members sold cheese and sausage.

When asked to comment on his experiences in performing with the band, Jeff Martin, a freshman member of the Cougar Marching/Symphonic Band replied, "I have a feeling of excitement, and a tingling sensation when the crowd claps and cheers us on. This is one of the only times I have this special feeling." All the bands share this feeling of deep pride in their accomplishments.

Steve Homol, also a freshman, and a member of the Jazz Band explained, "Mr Pastor is always trying to take a song one step better than what we can do." Hard work on the parts of both the students and the instructor comes together to form the excellent band program at our school.

As in any other activity, "The work is hard, but the satisfaction comes when we perform a great show!" stated Jodi Livermon, member of the Cougar Marching/Symphonic Band.

Computers Help

Groups find computers a value.

Future Farmers of America had their national kick-off barbecue this year. This, being their major fundraiser, was one of many things FFA sponsored this year.

"FFA is a co-curricular organization as compared to an extra-curricular organization which is part of the total program of vocational agriculture. A basic requirement for FFA membership is that a student must be involved in vocational agriculture," said FFA sponsor Mr. Everett Rhodes.

"Members who desire active membership in the FFA may continue after they graduate from high school or completed all of their vo-ag classes," he added.

Mr. Rhodes also says that "membership is an addition to classroom instruction and FFA is another vital part of the vo-ag program."

"The primary aim is to develop leadership, cooperation, and citizenship among its members," Mr. Rhodes said. A basic requirement for vocational agriculture is for all students to have an interest in agriculture.

The purpose of the computer club is to bring the people who are interested in computers together, said president Andy Smith.

"The computer club activities for this year include learning about the equipment, problem solving, and play a lot of games," he said.

During the meetings, programs are exchanged, some ideas are discussed, and basically talk about computers. The club officers include Andy Smith, president, Earl Osborne, Vice President, Larry Standage, Secretary, James Smith, Treasurer.

The main discussions in the computer club is the use of a personal computer. We also talk about disk drives, touch tables, light tape drives and the software," stated Andy Smith. The computer club has about 20 members.

Rodeo Team members compete regularly.

The Western Heritage Club (Rodeo Club) held concession stands, car washes, bake sales, and yard sales to raise money for the Annual All-State High School Rodeo in December. Several members who compete in rodeo hold cards for the National High School Rodeo Association. These sanctioned rodeos are held by high school rodeo organizations throughout the state of Arizona. The year-end State Finals Rodeo is held in Payson, in June.

Members Yvette Auza and Allen Gillespie earned points to compete at the NHSTA Finals Rodeo in Rapid City, South Dakota. The events include Barrel Racing, Goat Tying, Pole Bending, Breakaway Roping, Team Breakaway Roping, Team Roping, and Cutting. The boys' events are Bareback, Saddle Bronc, Bullriding, Calf Roping, Team Roping and Cutting.

This year the City of Casa

Grande proclaimed December 8-9 as the High School Rodeo Week. Members who placed in the rodeo were awarded points and money. Yvette Auza placed second in Barrel Racing, and fourth in Pole Bending. Greg Tashquinth placed seventh in team roping. Allen Gillespie also placed in the Bareback Riding. Also competing were Stephanie Crow, John Brown, Wahlean Robertson, Pat Richards, Eddie Miguel, Laura Almendarez and Toby Farrow.

This club gives the opportunity to the cowgirls and cowboys to work more on their goals in later life. Some of the members will be given rodeo scholarships for college and continue to rodeo and may even become professionals.

World-wide

Clubs try to show their diversity.

The French Club, Le Circle de Francs, does many activities throughout the year. The club bakes which includes many traditional foods. During December, the French Club has a Petit Dejeune, or French breakfast. The club members also do candy sales and concession stands to raise money to dine at a French restaurant and for scholarships for those who want to further their French education.

This year's club officers are Donna Lott, president; Kimber Robinette, vice president; Kim Zink, secretary; Neil Shankel, treasurer.

American Field Service does traveling and exchanging with students from other countries. AFS has been having a lot of exchange students. Do students travel the world as they would like? Lana Stedman, president of AFS, answered, "No, most of the people have not yet, though there have been two students this year to travel parts of the world. Todd Unger and Gary Taylor went to Argentina and France, respectively."

Mrs. Cassity, sponsor of AFS, added, "We hope to do more visiting and meeting more students from other places." Mr. Cassity's future plans are to make some exchange plans with other schools in the state.

The Amerind Club has fund raisers at school and also on the reservation. The money raised goes toward trips to the State Fair. The Amerind Club also goes on outings with Indian clubs from other schools. The officers are Anita Galvan, president; Velda Lewis, vice president; Debbie Burk, secretary and treasurer.

Job Skills

JAG students learn about occupations.

The 1985 Casa Grande Jobs for Arizona Graduates chapter again achieved the status of outstanding chapter, a title they have now held for the past three years.

The organization was established to zero in on high school seniors who, regardless of their background, lack job skills and occupational goals and prepare them for entry-level employment. Instruction is given in thirty-three job competencies identified by employers as essential for success in the world of work.

Supervised by their job specialist, Miss Diane Young, the members become personally involved in job placement through contacting employers, arranging interviews, and completing applications. "This program works," stated Miss Young who has successfully found employment for 90% of her students over the last two years. "The club provides a family atmosphere which helps my students become more closely related," Miss Young said.

The club had many activities planned for the year, among them was the annual JAG state picnic followed by a trip to the state fair, O'Odham Tash volunteer work, parties, Career Expo at CAC, and State Conference, all aside from their various fundraisers.

Fundraisers included the sales of candy sticks, "Cougar" balloons, and Christmas tree ornaments as well as the painting of Christmas pictures on store windows and other community services.

This year's JAG club was one of the largest on campus, consisting of 40 members. Cindy Chavez was state representative for the Casa Grande chapter and was voted president of the Student Advisory Council.

Career Goals

DECA members work through the year.

DECA members are trained for jobs in the fields of marketing. This involves getting the product or service from the producer to the consumer.

Some of the sponsors include Vern Walton Motors, Burger King, Casa Grande Dispatch, Bashas' #21, Bio-Chem, Checker Auto, First Interstate Bank, Interstate Exxon, GenCom Corporation.

DECA helped with many programs including providing assistance with the Child Safety Program, Chamber of Commerce Santa, Casa Grande Mall Fashion Show, collecting food for the Food Bank, raising money for Muscular Dystrophy, and many more activities.

The goals of DECA are to help the community as much as possible, be active in all DECA state and national activities, have the most active club on campus, and have one of the most active chapters in the state. DECA also wants to show they are working with marketing activities which focus on developing vocational understanding, increasing civic consciousness, building social intelligence, and improving leadership skills.

DECA hoped to go to many conferences including the Vocational Office Leadership Conference, Fall Area Conference, and the National Career Development Conference in San Francisco.

Marcos Ronquillo and Vicki Fields discuss plans for club activities to be held during the year.

DECA members put the finishing touches on their project, reflecting a common practice that businesses use to publicize their services.

Mr. Manuel Leybas observes as Dianne Standage, Cori Sundblom, ▼ and Mardi Parsons imitate dogs in rehearsal for the "Improvisation Show".

Susan Peoples, playing the lead role of Peter ▲ Pan in the musical, whizzes through the air on her way to Neverland. In the play, Peter Pan flew by sprinkling fairy dust on himself and thinking lovely thought. In reality, Ken Jahns and Keith Hall operated pulleys to move Susan about the stage

Mr. Ron Standage, a pirate, and John Ziegler, ▶ Captain Hook, march on stage in bloodthirsty pursuit of Lost Boys and Indians. The pirates, Indians, and Lost Boys were the three major groups in Neverland.

Up, Up and Away

'Peter Pan' is season's hit.

The local chapter of the National Thespian Society is just one of thousands throughout the country. Mr. Manuel Leybas is the director of the drama club and department here at the high school.

The drama department produces a number of plays here at C.G.U.H.S. The Thespians participate by doing everything from acting to student directing.

This year's fall play, the "Improvisation Show" was a continuous chain of scenes improvised by actors using situations and music provided by the audience. This was Director Leybas' 25th production in the nine years he's served as head of the drama department at CGUHS. Stephanie Kleinz was the student director of the production, and is also treasurer of the local Thespian troupe. Other officers include Cori Sundblom, president; Mardi Parsons, vice-president; and Sharon DeLuca, secretary.

The musical "Peter Pan" was produced during the year, also "Peter Pan" is the story of the Darling children and their adventures in Neverland with Peter Pan. With the help of a special "flight" crew, actors were actually able to fly on stage. A breathtaking set used during the production was Captain Hook's ship. It was nearly 32 feet long, 16 feet high, and 12 feet wide. Needless to say, the show was a huge success.

The Thespians are an elite group of dedicated stage performers. Their express talents lead them to bigger and better things every year. The Thespians' motto could well apply to anyone: "Act well your part; there the honor lies."

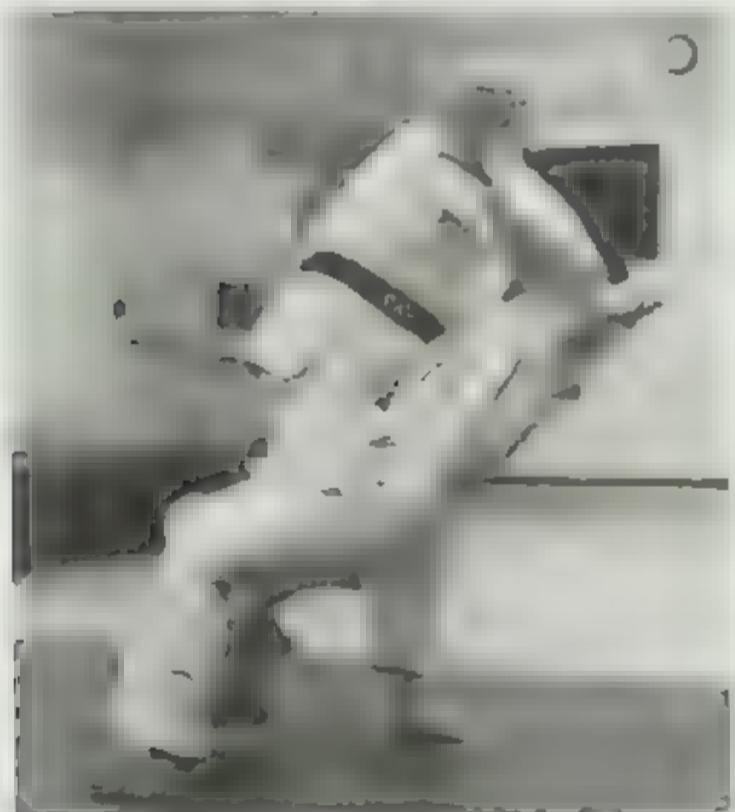

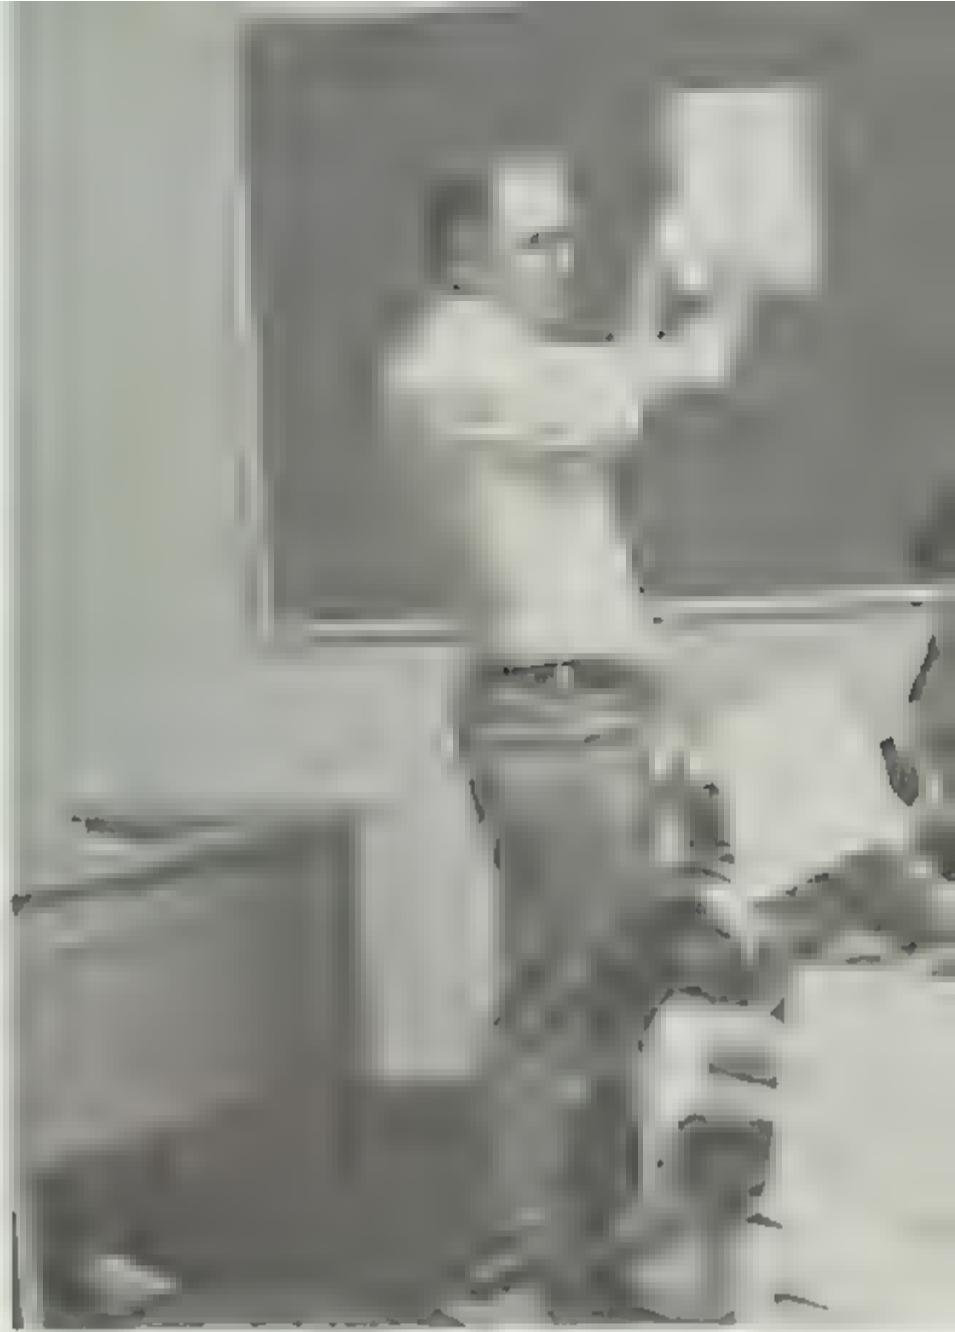

Indian braves and banas quietly follow their leader, Tiger Lilly (Adelita Felix) in pursuit of an ostrich in Neverland. The costuming for the animals in Neverland was fascinating. There were a tor-quoise ostrich, a pink kangaroo, and a purple lion, as well as the scaly crocodile who ate Captain Hook near the conclusion of the show.

Mr. Sharron Lunt, sponsor of SADD, gets many students involved in dealing with the growing problem of drunk driving. The new club helps students to understand how to deal with the problem within the community

As members of the Judo Club, students must practice vigorously with the instructor. Mr. Bruce Smith shows many demonstrations to teach the boys. Practice makes perfect!

Rough maneuvers and realistic drills are a large part of the Judo Club. The Instructor helps out in this situation. Many boys have joined the club this year

Robert Chute, president of SADD, sorts through papers pertaining to the club. Many students have become involved in the new club. They hope to promote community awareness of the problem of drunk driving

New Clubs

Judo Club and SADD are organized.

Students Against Driving Drunk Chapter, or SADD, is a new club at CGUHS. The purpose of the chapter of SADD is to help save the lives of all, to educate students concerning the problem of drinking and driving and to develop peer counseling among students.

Goals for SADD include eliminate the drunk driver and save lives, alert high school students to the dangers of drinking and driving, conduct community awareness programs and organize peer counseling for students who may have questions about alcohol.

SADD officers are Robert Chute, president; Cori Sundblom, vice president; Valerie Lessard, secretary; Lila Brunacini, treasurer. All members and sponsor Mr. Sharron Lunt encourage all students interested to attend the meetings.

This club fights for the theme of this year's annual, "Be yourself." If you're drunk, how can you be yourself?

Another new club is the Judo Club. Members are boys enrolled in this school. A strong program is set up to develop physical and mental training, discipline, positive image toward Judo and outer activities and to provide an outlet for member enthusiasm. These are only a few of the purposes of the club.

The Judo Club officers are Luis Martinez, president; Moroni Jessop, vice president; Art Carlton, secretary and treasurer.

"Being president of the Judo Club is a great honor. It makes me feel like someone," commented Luis Martinez.

Counselor of the Judo Club, Mr. Bruce Smith, stands with members of the Judo Club. The club is open to all boys enrolled in CGUHS. The Judo Club has been a new addition to the extracurricular activities of the school.

Sing, Sing, Sing

Chorale, Varsity Singers, Choraliers excel.

Chorale is an advanced mixed choir, whose concerts include Thanksgiving, Handel's "Messiah," and The Spring Sing. Chorale presents a number of public shows. They participate in community activities and different church services

Troubadors and Choraliers are the beginning level of choir. They also participate in all of the major concerts

Varsity Singers are the intermediate level of choir, and are involved in all of the major concerts

Any student who is in chorus may sing a solo for the solo ensemble festival, and enter various ensembles, like madrigals. In addition students try out for district choir and all state choir

DeAyn Pair who is in choraliers said, "Learning new songs and the basic rules of singing can not only help in your knowledge of singing but can be an enjoyable event."

Connie Espinoza and Tammy Rodriguez said "They took chorus because they like to sing and like the different songs they learn

Practice Makes Perfect

Blue Notes and Troubadours perform for public.

How would you like coming to school at 7:30 and starting to work? Well, if you are a member of Blue Notes, this is what you have to do. The Blue Notes perform two separate shows throughout the school year — the Christmas presentation and "Broadway". They practice many hours a day and also study choreography for their skits

Danny Norris stated, "When you are in Blue Notes, you get to know a lot of people and become good friends with them."

This year the Blue Notes performed their Christmas program at many elementary schools in Casa Grande, Stanfield and Toltec, the Women's Club, and several civic groups

In addition, they present the show at the Arizona Training Center, the Desert Valley Care Center, and CGUHS

"Many students enjoy being in Blue Notes and getting out of school during the Christmas season," stated Danny Norris. "But I don't like coming to school at 7:30."

The Blue Notes sing an arrangement of songs from the latest Broadway hits and from earlier years

Among some of the Broadway songs they sing are That's

Entertainment, Camelot, Another Op'nin', Another Show; and They're Playing My Song

They also sing People Will Say We're In Love, Don't Cry For Me, Argentina; If Ever I Would Leave You, Mame, and Let's Call The Whole Thing Off

Some others include Getting To Know You, Together Wher-ever We Go, My Favorite Things, One, People, Tomorrow, and I Whistle A Happy Tune

They are also involved in singing Hello, Dolly, Climb Ev'ry Mountain, Everything's Coming Up Roses, I Enjoy Being A Girl, There Is Nothing' Like A Dame, Oklahoma, and Memory

Mr. Ben Day is Blue Notes director

Key to Success

Key Club is a community-school service organization. The motto for Key Club is "Caring - Our way of life."

The members of Key Club were active throughout the year. They helped the Kiwanis sell Christmas Trees, sponsored the Valentine's dance, held a blood drive, worked at a Mutt Show, served at the North Central banquet, cleaned up the Pioneer Cemetery and Casa Grande Avenue. The officers attended a district convention in Mescalero, New Mexico on April 19 through 21.

Key Club also had some of their famous social events for the members. Some members were offered the opportunity to go to sunrise for a ski trip. They also had a Thanksgiving party where the members ate turkey, dressing, pumpkin pie and so on. They also went Christmas Caroling and on a hay ride. Key Club also has a field day where the members played softball and ate ham burgers.

To qualify to be a member of the Key Club one must have a grade point average of 3.0. Key Club consists of sophomores, juniors, and seniors. The officers include president Monique Kinson; vice-president Dulcita Lu; secretary Lisa Costales, and treasurer David Apodaca.

The 1984-85 Student Body Class officers were all females. This is the first time in the history of the school that this has happened. The president was Dulcita Lu, vice-president Gloria Pixler, secretary Lisa Costales, and treasurer Julie Neil.

Student Council has some new activities this year. They had a CPR program in which they were taught how to administer CPR to those who need it. Two officers came down and taught the members of Student Council.

Student Council also started a teacher of the month contest. The teachers would give their students evaluation sheets and the students would rate them on a scale of one to five. The teachers were rated on their participation in school activities, how well they know their subject, whether or not they care if the student learns anything, if they are to class on time, and so on.

To become a member of the Student Council one must have a grade point average of 2.5. Then one may be elected. Student Council met every Monday during first, second, or third hour. In these meetings they decided on petitions for dances and candy sales and many other things.

The Key Club, a community and school service organization, has certain standards for membership. A grade point average of 3.0 is required.

A design of an inanimate object was portrayed by one family living student. Each student had a choice of how to make the egg into his own creation.

This egg was creatively decorated into a type of insect. Many students used paint and other accessories to make their own ideas come to life. The students carried the eggs around for a week of school

Many eggs were accommodated well in their beds and homes. A corvette was also an object of fun for one of the eggs. None of the eggs resembled each other which showed the students' creativity.

Examples of Imagination are displayed in the above picture and to the immediate left. The eggs were a project for family living classes. The basis was for each student to see how responsible they could be in taking care of a very fragile subject. Painting and making their own designs encouraged students to get involved with their project.

Above-This sign is one of many in the parking lot in front of the school. Spaces are reserved for faculty and staff. Violators are towed away. Right-The no left turn sign is an example of traffic rules not being followed. Many students did not obey this sign which caused problems during lunch time and after school. As a result, the Florence Blvd. exit to the student parking lot was closed.

- The faculty parking lot in the front of the school has had some changes. Signs designate where school service vehicles and visitors are able to park.
- This roadway leads around the library from the front of the school to a student parking lot. Many times this passageway is used by school maintenance personnel.

blockade onto Florence Blvd. has made a real difference in student compliance with the law. Since many students did not obey the no-right turn sign, the exit was closed.

(Above) Peter Pan (Susan Peoples) crows in expression of deep pride in himself. The crowing was triggered by happiness when he had his shadow sewn back on after it had come off. (Above right) Captain Hook (John Ziegler) grasps a fellow pirate (Jeff Putnam) by the neck, expressing anger toward the Lost Boys and Peter Pan. The two groups had been bitter enemies during the play. (Right) Wendy Darling (Diann Standage) and Mother Darling (Laura Walters) sing their goodnight song before retiring to their beds. This occurred just prior to Peter Pan's flight into the Darling nursery in search of his lost shadow.

(Above) The Darling children, Wendy, Michael, and John (Diann Standage, Robert Betts, and Joey Johnston), fly through the air en route to Neverland by "thinking lovely thoughts". The aid of a strong backstage crew and many hours of practice helped make the flight sequences in "Peter Pan" a success. (Left) Captain Hook and his "lovable" first mate, Smee (John Ziegler and Chris Marlet) plot to kill Peter Pan and the Lost Boys by poisoning a cake and giving it to them.

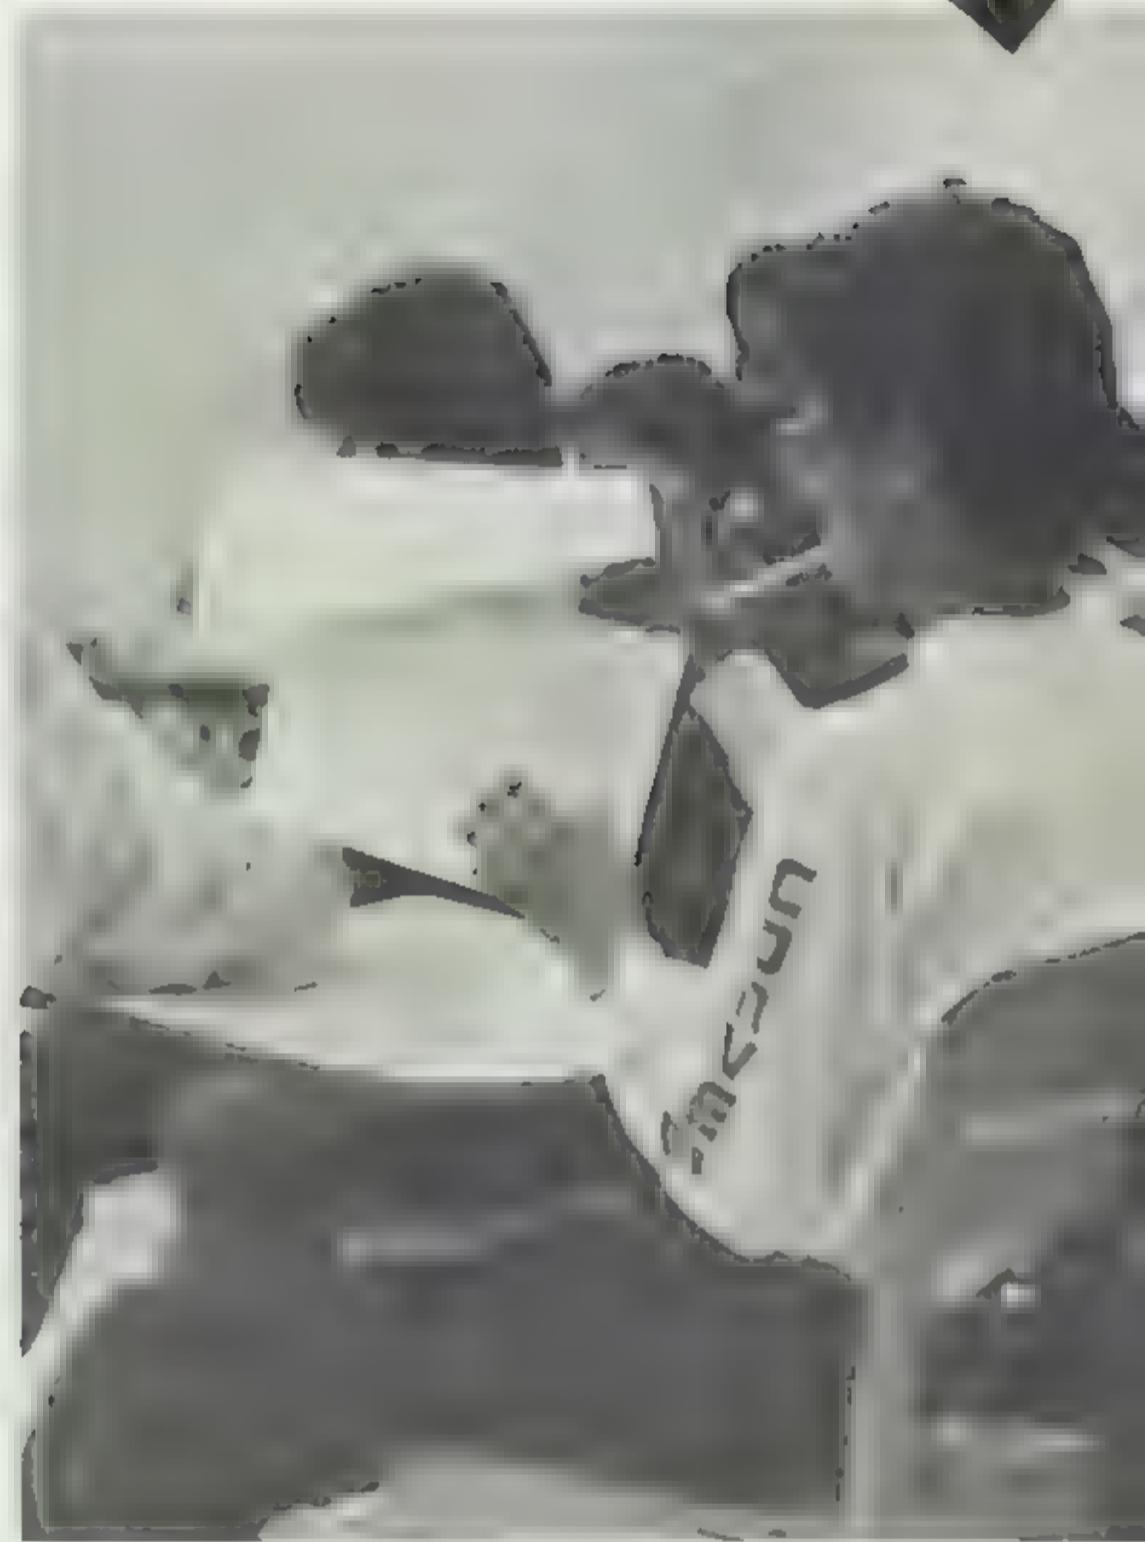

Listening to lectures are a main part in classroom daily activities. At least these ▶ students don't have to take notes.

Hiding from the camera is a normal reaction for many. Conversation and relaxation are ▼ two big factors in a lunch break.

Eating lunch and catching up on things with friends takes place on the school campus snack bar. Many students go out to other places, but it is convenient to grab something for lunch at the snack bar

Above-Flipping through papers and sitting back in his seat, a student is attending to business during class. Many students use extra time in class to catch up on work. Left-Looking over her shoulder, an attendance aide looks surprised as she stops working for a minute

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS We would like to thank all the teachers for their time and cooperation in the production of the 1985 Cougar Annual. A special thanks to Carol Fitzsimmons whose name is not in gold on the cover. We would also like to thank JoAnne Larson for all the time that she spent getting out pages after she moved back from Minnesota.

COLOPHON: The 1985 Cougar Annual contains 216 pages printed on glossy surface 191# paper. The litholine cover is silkscreened and laminated. The primary typeface is Souvenir in regular and bold face.

Special effects headlines are done in Formatt. Basic ink color is black with use of four-process color. The 1200 copies of the Cougar are printed by the Josten's American Yearbook Company.

about it's been a summer & met.
the best friend.
I'm glad you have become friends, but you won't stay
a friend unless you soon come.

Yours &
Ernest B. Smith

it's been nice to know you and good luck at camp. CCR

To Tim,
Good and we have a great time. I what not saying we were very good and I hope everyone we are have a fun summer.
See, well the year has come to an end and its time to say to depart. It was nice having a good friendship with you. You are a very nice pretty girl. I hope that you have a nice vacation. And summer may find you to be happy and a friend.
